

MOSCOW.—You can be a capitalist or "bourgeois" in Russia if you like but they see to it that you do not get rich at it, and that your class is not numerous or strong enough to endanger the safety of the proletarian state. Progressive taxes are one device. You can, for instance, run a small restaurant and if you and your family do all the work, you pay only the normal tax, as a privileged proletarian.

Even the tourist, who is for the moment necessarily a capitalist, since he is spending accumulated money and hiring the services of others, has to pay some curiously cumulative taxes. In this room, for instance, is a card requesting all guests to pay their bills daily, in order to avoid excessive surtax. There is no tax on "bills" up to five rubles, but from 5 to 10 rubles, it is ten per cent.; from 10 to 25 rubles, 14 per cent.; from 25 to 50 rubles, 16 per cent.; from 50 to 75 rubles, 18 per cent.; and above 75 rubles, 20 per cent. This refers not to the daily price of your room, but to the total amount of your bill at the time you pay it. So the guest with a cheap room at 5 rubles a day, if he pays only once in five days, must pay as high a surtax as the one with a luxurious suite, at 25 rubles a day, if he pays every day.

This applies even in the restaurant. If you have a party of five, and your bill, at 3 rubles a piece, is 15 rubles, you pay an extra 14 per cent., but you can demand a separate bill for each member of the party and pay them all yourself, with no tax at all, since each "bill" is less than 5 rubles.

There is, of course, one marked exception to the discouragement of capitalists. Russia wants great industries, and so, rather than wait to develop them communistically, it is willing to have some of them developed capitalistically. So if you have ten million, or fifty million dollars to invest, the Soviet government will give you a "concession" to build your factories, develop your mines; install your electric plants, and run them for profit for a definite term—perhaps fifty years. During that time you are expected to amortize your investment, and the plant will revert at the end of the period, to the government, just as an American street car plant would do.

Russia, once reputed the most linguistic land in the world, is now the least linguistic. Of course, nothing has really changed, even in this respect. This Russia was never linguistic. It spoke only its own language. The "Russia" we referred to in the old days, was now mostly dead, or existed in Paris, where it still speaks French, as it always did. That leaves behind the vast mass of the people, of whom fewer speak a foreign language than in any other country in the world. Even in this hotel, there is a director-in-chief, who speaks some English; a head porter, who speaks French, and his assistants, who speak good German, but otherwise there is not a person in the whole establishment, apparently, who speaks a word of any Western language. The signs and notices are all in Russian, the menu is Russian, and life is Russian. In the museums and cathedrals, if you get a guide, it is one who speaks only Russian. There is no catering to foreign tourists—probably because there are so few to cater to—and you simply have to know enough Russian to get around, hire an interpreter, or revert to sign language. We have done a little of all three.

WE MET today our first "typical Bolshevik"—and she was crazy. Walking down the street, we met a wild-eyed woman, with delicate features, dressed in rags, who, as soon as she saw us, with our catering to "bourgeois" clothing from the world of Western capitalism, pointed her finger at us and proceeded to deliver, in impassioned tones but with a finely-cultivated enunciation, an oration against us, in the name of "the people." A knot of small boys was following her and mocking her, as a recognized lunatic. But expect here almost anywhere Westward, and she would be accepted as a characteristic specimen of Moscow. Another, really typical one: A benevolent old gentleman, of the finest literary culture, friend and intimate of the greatest writers of Russia's past, dressed in blue overalls and gray jumper, said: "Please do not regard me as a representative of Old Russia. Rather, I represent that newest Russia which has not yet arrived. The Bolsheviks are far too conservative for me. I am an anarchist. I do not believe in any government at all, nor in any law, nor in any compulsion exercised on anybody. Every man must do what is right in his own sight. If he thinks it right to kill me, I do not think it right to resist him by force. The consequences are not my concern."

Flight of Giant Plane Successful

BOLLING FIELD, WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—The giant Sikorski airplane, built for the New York-Paris non-stop flight, arrived here shortly after noon today, on its first test flight. It had left Roosevelt field, Long Island, at 9:20 o'clock, eastern standard time, and had made the trip without mishap.

Orange County Historical Production to Be Put on Last Time This Evening

FAIR PROGRAM

Thursday, September 9
P.-T. A. Day
10 a. m.—Gates open.
2 p. m.—Rodeo events in arena, in front of grandstand.
4 p. m.—Special program in feature tent.
6 to 7 p. m.—Band concert in feature tent by Huntington Beach Municipal band.
6:30 p. m.—Parent-Teacher association banquet.
7:30 p. m.—Concert in arena by Huntington Beach Municipal band.
8 p. m.—Final production allegorical pageant, "The Birth of an Empire."
8:30 p. m.—Dancing under auspices American Legion.

ALL ATTENDANCE records at the Orange County fair were broken yesterday, when more than 12,500 persons poured through the front gates of the fair grounds to see what is declared to be the best fair Orange county ever has had. Gate receipts yesterday showed a substantial increase over the record-breaking day experienced Monday, according to H. A. Lake, president of the fair board.

Monday it was estimated that the attendance was nearly double the best day last year and yesterday officials declared that the attendance had doubled the best day of last year. Gate receipts yesterday amounted to slightly more than $4000, according to Lake. Gate receipts at the arena for the afternoon rodeo and the evening horse show also broke all records, it was reported.

The crowd was so large last night that the fair grounds parking area was closed early in the evening and cars were forced to park along the highway as far away as the county hospital.

Production of Pageant
Tonight the people of Orange county will have their last opportunity to witness the allegorical pageant, "The Birth of an Empire," feature entertainment of the fair.

The pageant has been given on two evenings of the fair, Monday and Tuesday, and all minor imperfections in the production have been worked out, with the result that the staging of the allegorical drama tonight is expected to be perfect in every detail.

The play traces the romantic history of Orange county, which is virtually the same as the history of the entire Southland, from the time when this land was inhabited only by a band of benighted Indians down to the modern era of agricultural prosperity, concluding with the crowning of King Placentia, won by Edward Newman, and Queen Valencia, played by Audrey Isbell Peterson.

Arrival of Forty-Niners
One of the stirring scenes of the pageant is the arrival by means of covered wagons of the forty-niners who pitch their camp on the pageant stage and proceed to present a realistic picture of life in California when the state was young. A fight between gamblers, holding up of the stage coach, and a repulse of the attack by cowboys, are among the stirring incidents in this episode.

TWO BANKS TO MERGE WITH 260 MILLIONS RESOURCES

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—Plans for consolidation of the Mercantile Trust company and the American bank into an institution with resources of more than $260,000,000 the eighth largest trust company in the United States, were completed today.

Approval of the merger was given by boards of directors of both banks late yesterday. It will become effective as soon as the stockholders have formally ratified it.

Women Rivals Agree to Fistic Battle

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Claire Anderson, screen actress, and Mrs. Claire Omley, divorcee, have agreed to settle their quarrel over the affections of Mrs. Anderson's husband in a fistic duel. The challenge was made by Mrs. Omley, following a preliminary legal skirmish, in Mrs. Anderson's suit for alienation of her husband's affections, in which the divorcee is defendant.

Mrs. Anderson accepted the challenge, but thus far the two women have been kept apart by friends.

In addition to $125,000 damages for alleged alienation of affections, Mrs. Anderson named Mrs. Omley co-respondent in a divorce action against her husband, who is Harry M. Anderson, Hollywood automobile dealer.

SCREEN SHEIK LEAVES SECOND WIFE ONLY $1

Teresa Werner and Rudy's Brother and Sister Share Estate

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—Natacha Rambova, divorced second wife of Rudolph Valentino, was cut off with a mere $1 in the screen sheik's last will and testament, according to his attorney, W. L. Gilbert. The will was to be filed for probate today.

Miss Rambova's aunt, Teresa Werner, is made an equal heir with Alberto and Maria Guglielmi, Valentino's brother and sister, in the disposition of the actor's estate.

S. George Ullman, Valentino's business representative, is executor of the will, and he will hold the estate in trust for the three principal heirs.

Valentino's final will was drawn Sept. 1, 1925. It was designed to supersede a previous will, in which Miss Rambova was named the sole heir.

The late actor's assets were as follows: Beverly Hills home, valued at $175,000; life insurance, $50,000; second home, $65,000; yacht, $75,000; Beverly Hills real estate, $50,000; three Italian motor cars, $46,000; collections of armor and antiques, $25,000; several domestic automobiles and several horses and personal jewelry, $50,000.

Boy Accidentally Shot by Own Gun

FRESNO, Sept. 9.—After a complete investigation into the manner in which Gordon Wylie, 16, Los Angeles, was wounded, deputy sheriffs declared here today that the boy accidentally shot himself and was not shot by a mysterious hunter, as he claimed.

The officers said Wylie was too proud to admit his mistake.

Wylie had been transferred from a receiving hospital, near here, to the county hospital here. He is suffering a serious wound in the abdomen.

Rancher to Start Murder Sentence

VVISALIA, Calif., Sept. 9.—Frank Nieblas, Porterville rancher, will be taken to San Quentin penitentiary, to start serving a sentence of from 10 years to life for the slaying of M. P. Virgil, 33, Porterville recluse, within a couple of days, officials said here today. Nieblas pleaded guilty to second-degree murder.

RED RULE IN PEKING FEAR AT CAPITAL

Reports Received in Washington Hint at Government Friendly to Russia

HOSTILE TO AMERICA

Nationalist Tide, Bitter to U. S. and Other Powers, Is Sweeping Country

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—A radical Chinese government, friendly to Russia and hostile to the United States and other powers, is imminent in Peking unless some unexpected barrier stops the northward sweep of Cantonese armies, according to reliable reports here today from China.

The nationalist tide, considered responsible for reported seizure of British merchant ships on the Yangtze river and the ensuing battle between Chinese and British forces, was described as rising rapidly throughout China.

Although the bombardment of an American hospital and American naval vessels near Hankow was not deliberate, Americans were said to be endangered by the general anti-foreign hatred.

Nations Are Powerless
The United States and other governments are believed powerless to take effective action, either to facilitate pacification of China or adequately to protect American and foreign citizens.

The administration here has definitely determined upon a policy against military intervention, except in extreme cases for the protection of American lives and property in limited areas.

Use of force by outside governments will only stimulate the anti-foreign movement, increasing the danger to American missionaries and other aliens in isolated regions far from the protection of American gunboats and marines, it is believed.

Reports from the front emphasize significance of the Cantonese victory in the Hankow area. Following the Cantonese capture of Hankow, the capture of Hankow, "Pittsburgh of China," and the rich central districts is considered practically inevitable.

Little Barrier to Advance
Marshal Wu Pei Fu, leader of the conservative armies, has been eliminated as a major factor and little remains to prevent the Cantonese continuing northward along the Hankow-Peking railroad to the capital, according to these reports.

With the radical Kuminchun or nationalist armies advancing from the south under Canton and Moscow generals, the northern Kuminchun of Fen Yu Hsiang, also an alleged ally of Russia, is expected to co-operate with a pincer movement to recapture Peking.

The ultra-nationalist government planned by the converging Kuminchun armies would declare void the so-called unequal treaties, under which the United States and other powers maintain foreign courts and garrisons, and other extra-territorial privileges, it is feared.

WAR DECLARED ON WONTONSE LEADER
PEKING, Sept. 9.—Gen. Sun Chuang Fang, lieutenant of Gen. Wu Pei Fu, commander of northern forces, today declared war on Chang Kaisek, who is regarded as the dominant leader of the Canton government, and ordered mobilization of native troops in the provinces of Chekiang, Anhwei, Kiangsi, Fukien and Kiangsu.

Slayer Is Removed To Insane Asylum

MODESTO, Calif., Sept. 9.—Thomas M. Fay, 76, Stanislaus county rancher, today was removed to the state hospital for the insane at Stockton, as the aftermath to his fatal shooting last May of Elwood Talbert, 63, his brother-in-law. Fay was found mentally incompetent by a superior court jury, before which he was tried for murder.

Two Bandits Slain and Two Escape

CLARKSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 9.—Two bandits were slain and two escaped today when an attempt was made to rob the Red River National bank here.

The bandits chose an inopportune time to stage the robbery, for Tom Hickman, Texas ranger, and other officers, were waiting for them. It was said they had been tipped that the robbery was to take place.

The bandits were shot down as they left the bank.

BATTLING DRY DEFEATED FOR CONGRESS SEAT

Representative Upshaw Is Whipped at Primary in Georgia

(By United Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 9.—Representative W. D. Upshaw, pugacious dry, was defeated for re-election in the fifth (Atlanta) district in yesterday's Democratic primary, returns tabulated today indicated.

Leslie J. Steele, attorney, who referred to Upshaw in the bitter campaign as "Weary Willie," apparently had received 10 county unit votes out of a possible 18, assuring his nomination under the Georgia unit count election system.

Upshaw's congressional career had been featured by numerous fistic threats and near battles, despite the crutches he always carries.

Senator Walter F. George, World court advocate, had a 5-to-1 lead in units over Chief Justice Richard Russell, Jr., in returns from 125 out of 167 counties, and his re-nomination was assured.

Dr. L. D. Haldeman, led J. D. Holder in the gubernatorial race, but a run-off primary may be necessary to decide the nomination.

LA FOLLETTE FORCES WEATHER ELECTION
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 9.—La Follette progressives have weathered the stormiest primary in Wisconsin's long history of turbulent elections.

The solidarity of their political control of the state has swept each of the candidates over all opposition, with one exception.

The exception is the defeat of Attorney General Ekern by Fred Zimmerman, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, which is considered equal to election.

Gov. John J. Blaine's plurality in the Republican senatorial nomination fight against Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, Coolidge supporter, approached 20,000 today. Blaine was supported by Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr.

Tabulations from 2340 of the state's 2729 precincts showed Blaine leading, 138,402 to 179,942.

DIFFICULTY SEEN IN SENATE CONTROL
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Primary results to date indicate the administration will have a hard time controlling the next senate.

At the present lineup, the dominant faction of the Republican party must win 25 out of 26 contests at the polls in November to maintain numerical majority in the upper house—virtually an impossible task as matters stand.

The Democrats need to win but two seats to throw control of the senate into the hands of a non-

POSSE NABS GEM BANDITS; JEWELS GONE

Robber Trio Steals Half Million in Diamonds from Dealers on Fast Train

RAID DRAWING ROOM

Three Confess Crime, But Claim They Threw Booty Away As Captors Neared

(By United Press)

BUCKLEY, Ill., Sept. 9.—Within 12 hours after three bandits had held up three jewelry salesmen aboard a crack Illinois Central train, escaping with some $500,000 in diamonds, a posse of local citizens today had captured the bandits and obtained a confession of the robbery.

The three men captured were George Brown and G. A. Burke, of Chicago, and Henry Leonard, who said his home was in Montana. They were captured without a struggle as they lay hidden in a dense underbrush on the farm of George Pacey, near here.

The men admitted being the bandits who staged the spectacular raid on the drawing room of the train near Champaign, Ill., last night, and said they had tossed the jewels away as the posse approached, early this morning.

The three bandits robbed William Davidson and M. Minsky, San Francisco diamond merchants, and Julius Riskin, New York salesman, of $480,000 in diamonds in the drawing room of the New Orleans Limited, of the Illinois Central railroad.

Leaving their victims bound with wire, the robbers left the train at Urbana and escaped in a rented automobile.

The jewelry salesmen were found by a Pullman porter a few minutes after the train left Urbana. Police of surrounding cities were notified and the bandits escaped a posse at Paxton, Ill., after a running gun battle.

Abandoning their car near Loda, Ill., the bandits continued on foot and were captured by the posse on Pacey's farm.

A search was to be made today along the roadside for the stolen diamonds.

DIAMOND MERCHANTS ON WAY TO COAST
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—William Davidson, San Francisco diamond exporter and importer, left three weeks ago on a buying trip to New York, accompanied by Morris Minsky, diamond dealer with adjoining offices. They were returning home with new stocks of jewels when robbed last night on a train in Illinois.

Treasury Issue In Big Demand

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The new $35,000,000 treasury certificate issue, floated September 7, was heavily oversubscribed and books will be closed tonight, Acting Secretary of the Treasury Winston announced today.

Winston said there is a scarcity of government securities on the market at present and this indicated a lower interest rate would be fixed on the next financing issue.

The new issue was 3 1/2 per cent, compared with a rate of 6 per cent five years ago.

M'KINLEY BETTER
MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 9.—The condition of Senator William B. McKinley, of Illinois, suffering from sciatic rheumatism at a sanitarium here for the last three weeks, was called "slightly improved" by his physician today.

There was speculation, too, regarding Germany's intentions with respect to German explosive questions, which must be discussed at Geneva sooner or later. For one thing, Germany will be in a position to broach the question of "war guilt" as soon as she has taken her place within the league.

Germany has chafed for years under the direct accusation contained in the Versailles treaty that she was responsible for the war. This firebrand topic, if brought up at an early date, would cause trouble.

Estrada Indicted

GEN. ENRIQUE ESTRADA

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—A blanket indictment has been voted by the new federal grand jury here against Gen. Enrique Estrada and his "army" of 150 revolutionists, now prisoners in San Diego.

The alleged insurgents are accused of violating the American neutrality laws by plotting to invade Lower California.

Evidence against the men included a mass of documents and photographs, showing detailed plans of the "rebels" to capture a section of Mexico.

SHOOT ENEMY AFTER SEARCH OVER 3 YEARS

Journey of 3000 Miles Ends with Killing At Doorstep

(By United Press)

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 9.—It took three years and a journey of 3000 miles for Benjamin Turner to find James D. Hallen.

And at the journey's end came murder. Turner shot and killed Hallen, soldier of fortune and ex-convict, on the doorstep of the latter's home in Falmouth Foreside, yesterday.

"Don't worry; I'm done. I've done what I came for. Call the police."

Thus did Turner reassure witnesses, as he pocketed his revolver after firing five shots that ended the life of the man he claimed had wronged him.

"Yes, I shot him," Turner told Sheriff King F. Graham, when questioned today. "He ruined me financially. I trusted that man as my own father."

Turner declined to discuss his affairs or family connections, merely stating he had been employed as an accountant by the American Smelting and Refining company, in Mexico City, and had lived in San Francisco.

Turner first met Hallen in Mexico City, in 1921, according to Sheriff Graham. Soon after, Turner was arrested, charged with the murder of Ramon Argiles. Turner immediately called Hallen, who was well versed in law, according to the sheriff, and gave him all his money, with the idea that Hallen would obtain for him a speedy trial and engage competent lawyers.

Records in Turner's possession indicated that Hallen deserted his new friend and that for two years Turner remained in jail. Subsequently, Turner was acquitted and immediately began a systematic hunt for Hallen.

Through Pinkerton detectives, Turner recently learned of his enemy's whereabouts, and came here to see if he could straighten things out with him.

Institution for Disabled Soldiers at Palo Alto Is Put Under Legion Fire

PROBE IS DEMANDED

Sonoma County Council Insists Immediate Inquiry Be Made Into Conditions

(By United Press)

HEALDSBURG, Calif., Sept. 9.—Sensational charges that the World War veterans' hospital at Palo Alto had become a "torture chamber instead of an infirmary," and that the institution was "more like a penitentiary than a ward for disabled and shell-shocked veterans" were contained in four sworn affidavits, read last night before the Sonoma county council of the American Legion.

The council met, to air verbal charges of alleged conditions at the Palo Alto hospital and to hear the report of a special investigator.

Amid bitter denunciations of the treatment given war veterans, a resolution was adopted calling for an immediate and thorough investigation by the American Legion.

Dr. John T. Slavich, state commander of the Legion, said that the affidavits read last night, declared an immediate probe would be instituted.

Patient Makes Affidavit
The most startling allegations were contained in the sworn statements of Frank L. Beckman, former captain in the A. E. F., who has been a patient at the Palo Alto institution for several years. Beckman charged that attendants at the hospital often struck, cursed, and insulted the patients and he cited specific instances where ailing veterans of the war were allegedly "beaten up" at the slightest provocation.

"The hospital is more like a chamber of torture than a place for shell-shocked veterans to try to find peace," the former captain declared.

William E. McCarthy, officer in the reserve corps, who saw action overseas and who has 12 years' service in the army, testified in his sworn statement that he had been a bed patient at the Sawtelle hospital and was transferred to Palo Alto.

Held in Insane Ward
At the latter institution he declared, he was confined to the insane ward and when he protested, two of the attendants attacked him.

"They strangled me with a towel and dragged me back into the insane ward," said the veteran soldier, who recited instances when he was kicked and struck down by the male attendants.

McCarthy also declared that, although he was a bed patient and ordered confined to bed, the Palo Alto institution attendants refused to permit him to remain in bed during the day time.

Paul C. Barker, Santa Rosa, member of the American Legion, who was sent to investigate charges of ill treatment of patients at Palo Alto, constantly stated that the evidence of the veterans and declared in a sworn statement, that the institution had become a "penitentiary where the patients are treated like prisoners."

The fourth affidavit was signed by Michael Cunningham, A. E. F. veteran, who related alleged insanitary conditions.

HOSPITAL HEAD DENIES CHARGES
PALO ALTO, Sept. 9.—"All the charges are known to me and I have thoroughly investigated them. There is absolutely no truth to them," said Dr. P. G. Borden, head of the local veterans' hospital, today, replying to allegations aired at the Sonoma county American Legion council's meeting, last night. Dr. Borden said he welcomed an investigation of the hospital by the Legion.

THOUSANDS IN OBSERVANCE OF ADMISSION DAY

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 9.—More than 55,000 persons joined with 7,000 Native Sons and Daughters from the far-flung corners of the state in celebrating the seventy-sixth anniversary of California's statehood here today.

It was the greatest assembly on such an occasion in the history of the state and the largest crowd ever entertained by the state capital.

The spectacle of 7000 persons, all of native birth, on parade, staged on the main streets of the city, brought throngs of spectators to the city. A pageant of progress, depicting the historical episodes in California history, was divided into 11 parts, with an escort of city, county and state officials, grand lodge officers and motorcycle police.

15 Bands in Parade

There were 15 bands and 22 drum corps in the procession, led by J. Hartley Russell, of the Native Sons, and Josie Barboni, of the Native Daughters. A platoon of firemen and the firemen's band immediately followed the vanguard of San Francisco and Sacramento policemen. In the escort division were present and past grand officers of the Native Sons and Native Daughters and the Concord stage coach.

Early today the grand officers of the Native Sons joined with officials of the Wells-Fargo bank and Union Trust company in marking the site of the first Wells-Fargo office in Sacramento.

Preceding the parade, Judge Fletcher Cutler, past grand president, delivered the main address of the day at the capitol grounds.

President Makes Talk

Another talk was given by President Hillyard F. Welch, of Lodi, Judge J. F. Pullen presiding as chairman.

At 12 o'clock Governor Richardson entertained a large number of visitors at his annual luncheon in Assembly hall. All guests at this meeting were personally invited by the governor and many of the leading Native Sons were in attendance. This afternoon a visit was made to Sutter's fort, where a band concert was given by the Piedmont parlor band.

Competition took place between the drum corps of the various state departments at the state fair grounds. Native Daughters drill teams also marched in competition.

$50,000 FIRE AT LENNOX

LENNOX, Calif., Sept. 9.—Fire swept three buildings in the center of this village today causing damage estimated at $50,000. Firemen from Hawthorne, Redondo Beach and Los Angeles aided the local department in extinguishing the blaze.

Duelist Shoots Gun in Air When Opponent Misses

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 9.—The Cortez stock is still a fighting stock. On the very ground where the great Spaniard battle, four centuries ago in ending the rule of Emperor Montezuma, Prince Valerio Pignatelli of Italy, lineal descendant of Hernando Cortez, engaged in a bloodless duel with Eduardo Meda, scion of one of Mexico's wealthy and socially prominent families who has English blood in his veins.

Meda challenged Pignatelli, alleging that the descendant of Cortez had been unduly attentive to his wife. Pignatelli denied the allegation to Meda's seconds, but nevertheless accepted combat, saying a gentleman of honor could do no less.

The prince, who is declared to be an excellent shot, named pistols as the weapons, and one shot at ten paces by each man. The duelists repaired to a spot just across the federal district boundary in the state of Morelos to avoid the capital police.

Meda, who also is reported to be a good shot, fired and missed. With a calm smile Pignatelli slowly raised his pistol and fired into the air, bowed low with exaggerated courtesy to his adversary and walked away.

"It was a gesture worthy of Cortez himself," said one of the seconds.

It was decided by the seconds that the honor of both parties had been satisfied, but there was no reconciliation.

administration coalition of Democrats and independents, such as exercised control in the 68th congress.

If the Democrats should win eight seats from the Republicans, they could organize the senate, name the committee chairman and run the legislative show without help from the independents. Their strength, of course, cannot be estimated until November, but the victory of John J. Blaine, La Follette supporter, in Wisconsin, and Smith W. Brookhart, in Iowa, over two administration Republicans, has made the independents stronger numerically than they were, even in 1923, when the La Follette group held the balance of legislative power.

DOMESTIC GIRL WILL GET CROWN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 9.—The bathing beauties went to school this morning.

Not in search of education, of course, but to parade before the judges in the annual beauty carnival elimination. Fifteen of the 73 contestants for the title of American beauty will survive the test. The appearance before the judge was private.

The preliminary judging precipitated a near riot, a crowd of several thousand persons milling about the high school, for some reason desiring admittance. Twenty-five police were called out and the crowd was controlled.

The judges, after their morning's work, if such it might be called, indicated that the girl who combines beauty with brains and has domestic life in view will be given the crown.

CANCELLATION OF CONTRACT SOUGHT

FRESNO, Sept. 9.—W. E. Hornaday, Wichita, Kan., seeks cancellation and rescission of a contract, plus a money judgment of $13,558 in a suit against the San Joaquin Valley Farm Lands company, Marco H. Hellman, Irving H. Hellman and Herman Janas, on file here today.

Hornaday charges conspiracy to defraud him by false and fraudulent representations. He claims he purchased 40 acres of land from the company after its representatives had told him the land was bearing alfalfa and was free from encumbrances.

Neither of those allegations were true, the suit declares.

New York Flyer Air Race Winner

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—Robert Hewitt, of New York, flying a Waco 9, won the final race for the Aero Club of Pennsylvania trophy at the national air races here this afternoon.

Hewitt's speed average for the 84-mile race was 107.5 miles an hour. He held the lead throughout. Basil Rowe, keeper, N. J., in a Thomas Moore S-4-E plane, was second and "Casey" Jones, New York, third.

GERMAN CHIEF U. S. WITNESS IN FRAUD CASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Richard Merton, of Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, emerged from the status of a person sometimes heard of but never seen into a flesh and blood creature and the center of probably the most remarkable prosecution for alleged governmental graft in American history. He is the government's star witness against former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and former Allen Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller, now on trial here for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government.

The immaculately attired, more or less romantic appearing man, who shows the mark of world travel and of one who speaks many languages, controls many dollars and moves in many spheres, was awaiting the opening of court tomorrow to tell his story of how he brought about the return to interests headed by himself of $7,000,000 in property the government seized from German owners during the war.

U. S. Relies on Merton

Merton, who is expected to say that he connived with Miller and Daugherty, is looked upon now as the main reliance of the government in its efforts to send to jail those two high officials—the highest ever prosecuted for an offense of that character.

Merton's testimony is expected to recount how he met John T. King, Republican politician, of Bridgeport, Ct.; through him met Jesse Smith, the somewhat mysterious confidant of Daugherty, who committed suicide, and finally, with the help of those men, met Daugherty and Miller, with the result that $7,000,000 in assets of the American Metals company, which he sought, was returned to him.

Merton actually received $6,500,000 handed him, according to the prosecution, in the form of a government check, brought here by Miller personally and presented at a champagne party in one of New York's finest hotels; a party at which they guests were Miller, Merton, Smith and King.

$391,000 in Liberty Bonds

Of the remainder of the $7,000,000, a total of $391,000 was in Liberty bonds and U. S. Attorney Emory R. Buckner expects Merton to reveal that these bonds went into the possession of King. Then, through records, and other witnesses, the story of what King did with the bonds will be pieced together—a story expected by Buckner to reveal that Daugherty, King, Smith and Miller all received a part.

Merton is the son of an English mother and German father, and is a German citizen. He heads a powerful German firm—the Metallbank, of Frankfort, and the Metallgesellschaft, or Metal Trust, of Frankfurt; and the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs Metaux, of Switzerland. The Metallbank and the Metallgesellschaft owned the American Metal company before the war. It was seized as alien property by the government and came under Miller's control.

Wrigley Plans to Import Swimmers For Channel Test

PASADENA, Sept. 9.—William Wrigley Jr., millionaire sponsor of the $25,000 Catalina channel sea derby, plans to import several expert swimmers from Europe for the event, scheduled for Jan. 15, 1927.

Before leaving his winter home here today for Chicago, Wrigley announced he would engage one swimmer from Denmark, another from England and a third from Germany, to compete in the cross-channel marathon.

"I will pay each of the foreign entries $5000 for expenses," he said.

Wrigley said he had received more than 50 letters from swimmers in all sections of the world desiring to compete in the mid-winter swim from Catalina Island the west coast mainland.

Boy Golf Star Is Beaten In Tourney

DEL MONTE, Sept. 9.—Donald Moe, 16 year old Portland golfer, went down before the brilliant attack of Harold Thompson, Glendale, Cal., intercollegiate champion in today's match play in the annual California golf championship. The score was 2 and 1.

Ozark Boy Hopes To Win Contest In Calling Pigs

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 9.—There will be no band or lodge patrols to see Hughie Henley off tonight for Omaha, where he hopes to win the hog-calling championship of the world, in competition with entrants from the pork belt states.

The lack of blaring trumpets and cheers of farewell will be due to Hughie's earnest request.

"Boys," said Hughie, when informed there would be a parade through the downtown streets before he left for Omaha, "I don't want no parade. And don't hire Hiner's band. I know the way to the depot by myself. I can find the Omaha club without music. I'm just a plain boy from the Ozarks and all that excitement might make me nervous and hurt my chances for winning the championship."

Hughie closed his training quarters today. His only workout consisted of deep breathing exercises and breakfast.

"I'm not going to eat much," Hughie explained, "as I want to go into the contest hungry. It stands to reason that a hungry hog will readily recognize the call of a hungry man. I expect to play on the hogs' sympathy. Misery loves company and a hungry porker ought to rush to my side when I go on the air, because I'm going to be the hungriest man in Nebraska, barring those boys on a bread and water diet in jail."

Funeral Tomorrow For Wreck Victim

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 9.—The body of Mrs. Inez Lockman, prominent Clarkesburg, W. Va., social worker, killed in the D. and R. G. wreck near Leadville, Colo., is being brought here for burial, according to relatives. Funeral services will be held tomorrow if the body arrives tonight, as expected, according to Mrs. R. K. Walker, Coronado, a daughter.

Our Neighbors

SAN DIMAS.—The Exchange Orange Products company of San Dimas will move into its new plant at Ontario November 15, according to an announcement by the company manager, Herbert Bailey. The new $175,000 Ontario plant is rapidly being completed and the annual meeting of its members will be held in the new building. Ninety per cent of the members of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange are members of the products plant, which extracts the by-products of the oranges, its principal commodities being orange juices and extracts. Following the November meeting, $100,000 in machinery will be installed and will be used for the first time on the new navel crop.

CALEXICO.—The Imperial valley faces a serious water shortage, M. J.
Dowd, general superintendent of the district, announces. The superintendent's office reported that unless an outlook for supply comes down the Colorado river within the next few days, it is probable that the water will be prorated among the ranchers as was done during the shortage two years ago. Officials do not anticipate that crops will be damaged materially, but advised ranchers to use the utmost care in the use of all water diverted from the Colorado river into the main canals for the next few days.

PASADENA.—More than 500,000 pounds of baby lima beans is the chief harvest of Pasadena's municipal agricultural ventures at the city farm this summer, and is the largest crop that the city has raised since it began experimenting with beans. The crop is proving to be the most profitable of the various crops which have been raised in the municipal gardens, including oranges, walnuts, alfalfa and potatoes.

SAN DIEGO.—Petitions calling for an election to annex National City, a place of 10,000 population, to San Diego will be circulated about the suburb this week, it is announced. The petitions were taken from the city hall by H. Phillips Scheuerman. It was explained that the objective was consolidation rather than annexation, and the petitions, to be valid, must carry names of a majority of the voters who cast their ballots at the last election in National City. The consolidation, it is said, will insure a sufficiency of water for the town, owing to San Diego's increased water supply.

CLAREMONT.—Installation of machinery for the stamping of the "Sunkist" trade name of the California Fruit Growers' exchange on all oranges, beginning with the navel season, will start in all Pomona valley orange houses this winter, according to an announcement by E. G. Devell, general manager, at a meeting of the Claremont Citrus Growers' association. The stamping machines will cost approximately $62,000, and various names will be branded on the fruit, according to grade. Thirty-one machines will be installed in local valley houses.

Tuesday evening. He declared the roads were fine most of the way, but the California roads were bad from Daggett to the Nevada line.
Shiner put his girls in school here and return north.

Redlands Melons Attract Buyers

REDLANDS, Sept. 9.—Watermelons grown here and in the Moreno valley are now on the market and are proving to be much better than the melons shipped in at this time that the local growers are able to obtain a half cent a pound more for their product. Local car-taloopes also are bringing a better price than those from the outside.
The melons grown around Mentone and on the sand in the Lugonia section are also of good quality.

THESE BANKERS NOW—WELL,
THEY WORK ONCE IN AWHILE

Well, Santa Ana bankers are loafing again today.
It's Admission day, y'know and therefore an excuse to close up the banking institutions and allow its employees to stand around on the corner and discuss politics, or what have you.

One such lucky individual held up a corner at Third and Sycamore streets throughout the morning, laughing up his sleeve at pen pushers, typewriter busters and others who, so far as business is concerned, do not know it is a holiday. For instance, the janitor at the city hall. He forgot that offices would not be open there today, so cleaned up the hall just the same. His heart was nearly broken when he found his work had been done for nothing.

But to get back to the money keepers. This one at Fourth and Sycamore, when jibed about his easy existence, was heard to remark that "Wal, th' interest goes on and on just the same."

But the stars favor the bankers, there's no doubt of that. Take the month of November this year for instance. There are only 30 days in the month; four of these are Sundays. Then there is general election day, Armistice day and Thanksgiving day—all holidays for the bankers.
But, as the banker says, "The interest goes on just the same."

SOCIETY

Young Matron Greeted Friendly Group at Bridge Evening

NE of the autumn's happy social events, was the bridge evening at which Mrs. E. C. D. Pettitt entertained a congenial group of friends Tuesday at her home,
2416 Heliotrope
drive.

A blue color scheme which the hostess chose for the affair, was particularly effective with the draperies and appointments of the pretty home and was suggested by the flowers as well as by decorative details of the dainty supper which was served at the close of the bridge session.

A quaint brass candlestick, presented Mrs. D. Taylor, rewarded her for high score at bridge while a pair of gay yellow garters offered consolation to Mrs. Herbert Huescamp for scoring low. In a guessing contest which was part of the entertainment offered, an equally pretty prize was won by Mrs. Norris Shelton.
Mrs. Pettitt was assisted in various friendly duties by Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. J. H. Metzgar and Mrs. Huescamp, including the preparation of the card tables for serving refreshments. Each was made attractive with dainty linens and flowers while nut baskets in pale blue added their charm. A first course of chicken salad with cheese straws and coffee was followed by a second one of ices and cake.

Enjoying the pleasant affair with the hostess were Mesdames Hugh Shields, D. A. Harwood, J. S. Warner, Joseph H. Metzgar, Charles Swanner, E. Leo Borchard, Edwin Dickinson, N. H. Hilton, Carl Klatt and D. Taylor of this city, O. D.
Hanson and Herbert Huescamp, Anaheim.

Newlyweds Return
From Catalina

Stealing away from their friends,
Mrs. Bessie Chapin and Ernest
Cummings were married quietly in Los Angeles, Saturday, September 4 and left at once for Catalina to spend their honeymoon.
They are now home, receiving the congratulations and good wishes of their friends, and Mrs.
Cummings has resumed her place in the Orange Blossom cafe, 1029 East Fourth street, of which she is proprietor and Mr. Cummings is again with the Triangle express.

Ebell Society

Mrs. S. W. Stanley, for the second year presiding over the destinies of Ebell society of Santa Ana valley, conducted the first executive board meeting of the new club year, in the Ebell clubhouse last Tuesday morning.

Tentative plans for the year's work were presented by Mrs. L. A.
Chenoweth, and also the program for the opening meeting on Monday afternoon, September 13, were discussed. An interesting year of work, study and entertainment is promised for the members.

"We never dreamed there was such a complete stock of furniture in Santa Ana"

How many people know—or have stopped to consider—that Santa Ana has, in the Chandler Furniture Store, a home-furnishing institution that ranks favorably, in point of stocks, with stores in much larger communities and is second only, to the large metropolitan stores?

Nearly every day we hear it, from customers who are looking over our lines of merchandise, "We never dreamed there was such a complete stock of furniture in Santa Ana!"

Nor is the Chandler home-furnishing service limited to Santa Ana and Orange county. Chandler's are continually winning customers from virtually all over Southern California.

Chandler's quality lines, from the most expensive down to the lowest priced dependable furniture, Chandler's endless selection, Chandler's service in general . . . those are the reasons we furnish so many houses. Those are the reasons why we are so well equipped to furnish Your home.

TOO MUCH LOVE BRINGS DEATH TO TINY PONY

September Morn, little Shetland pony at the Orange County fair, is dead, a victim of too much love. Amid all the gaiety and frolic of the tenth Orange County fair today, there was just one note of grief. Two little boys, George Cone, 12 years old, and Gene Wood, 13 years old, could hardly hold back the tears and all the bally-hoo of the merry-go-round, the cries of the concessionaires and the toot of the miniature railroad made it more difficult for them to hide their remorse. Both of the little boys live in Santa Ana. George and Gene had been hired to take care of the four black and pinto Shetland ponies of W. Kelly, of Los Angeles. Their pride and special pet was the tiny pony, born only 10 days ago, in Los Angeles. Today, September Morn was dead, and that was the cause of the little boys' grief. The little colt died as the result of too much fondling, too many expressions of admiration in physical form.

This morning, when George and Gene went to the stables, they found the little animal stretched out by the side of its mother, who was munching hay as if she did not know her baby was in the horse heaven.

The little colt was one of the bright spots of the fair. Miss Martha Kelsey, of Garden Grove, posed with September Morn and the picture was used in a score of newspapers.

"Ain't he nice! Ain't he cunning!" the admirers chirped, and never failed to pick him up or stroke his long black coat.

Too much loving killed September Morn and Gene, and George have broken hearts.

September Morn was too cute to live.

LEGION MEN TO NAME OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

More than 125 members of the Santa Ana American Legion post, No. 131, have signified their intention of attending the regular meeting of the organization tonight, for which time the annual election of officers is scheduled.

Jules Markel, first vice commander of the post, is the only candidate nominated so far for the office of commander, to succeed G. K. Scovel, but several lively races are expected for the less important offices.

Carl Edgar is opposed by William Wieland for first vice commander and Franklin West is opposed by Herman Zabel for the office of second vice commander. Several have been nominated for the executive committee.

Annual reports of committee chairmen are scheduled for tonight, many of which will be written reports, it was stated by Elmer Schaniel.

Bob Sandon, member of the post, will be presented with a bronze statue, called "The Spirit of the American Doughboy." Sandon is the winner of a contest in which he secured the largest number of new members for the post.

Although 125 have stated their intentions of being present tonight, it is thought that at least 50 others will attend. The post has a membership of 417 at the present time.

The meeting will begin with a dinner, to be served at 6:30 p. m., by members of the American Legion auxiliary.

BRUTAL KILLING OF RANCHER IS RECALLED HERE

Remembrances of Orange county's most brutal murder, the slaying of Roy Trapp, prominent Fullerton rancher, who was slain in his bed by Mose Gibson, negro, on July 14, 1920, were recounted here today with a news dispatch from Sacramento to the effect that William J. Slater, convicted of slaying James S. West, Needles, Calif., constable, on July 22, 1925, must hang for his crime.

West was the officer who arrested Mose Gibson after he had fled from Santa Ana on the night of the murder of Trapp.

All Orange county was thrown into excitement over the brutal murder of the prominent rancher and searching parties scoured the county for a trace of the negro.

Following his arrest, Ed French, Jesse Elliott, J. W. Tubbs, Budge Lacy and Frank Stewart, Santa Ana officers of that time, went to Needles and brought the prisoner back to Santa Ana. He was given a hasty trial, found guilty and hanged in San Quentin later in July after confessing to several murders in other states.

Autumn Gives Promise Of More Gaieties At Forest Home

SUMMER dwellers in Forest Home, that arched pine-scented retreat for weary city folk, reluctant to see their vacation slowly drawing to a close, have made the last summer week in the resort, a round of pleasant events.

And with the close of the summer vacation season and the arrival of winter with its snows in the camp, the gaiety will continue, for the new road so recently completed, will make Forest Home an easily accessible winter resort, and cabin owners there, propose to spend many happy days in camp during the colder weather.

The opening of schools is the principal reason for the present closing of many of the cabins and flitting of their owners. But the Labor day holiday saw practically every cabin open and housing merrily and appreciative guests.

One party which made the welkin ring with its gay good times, was composed of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Rorman, Miss Virginia Craig, Miss Taylor and Roy Burns all of the trust department of the First National bank and their head, Charles L. Fitchard as "guide, philosopher and friend." On different occasions they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague who were spending the week in Forest Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elon Roehm and Miss Elizabeth Roehm together with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sylvester were sojourning at the Cloves cabin and took part in the many events of the holiday week. The Hervey Truebloods entertained Mr. and Mrs. Rohr at their cabin, Fern Bank, while the W. D. Barkers had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Whitson.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Davis were occupying their cottage and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sturgeon and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ann were in theirs, the men returning to the city after the Labor day holiday and their wives remaining for the week. William G. Knox also was a Forest Home visitor over the holiday, joining Mrs. Knox and their daughter Marjorie at their cabin. Miss Marjorie had as her guest, her school friend, Miss Mary Henrietta Nau who returned to Santa Ana Tuesday with Mr. Knox.

The Charles Chapmans entertained quite a party over the holiday including their daughter and son-in-law, also Miss Barbara Horton and her brother. Mrs. J. S. Runyan entertained Mrs. Eugenia Rutherford and her two grandchildren, Rutherford and Ruby Belle Williams while Mrs. W. H. Harrison was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks and the latter's mother, Mrs. Harriet Earl.

Mrs. Mary M. Whitson of this city and her daughter-in-law of Los Angeles, are spending the week at the Shriver cottage where Miss Martha Whitson joined them over Labor day. Other guests in the resort during the week have been Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tubbs, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Armstrong and Miss Ruth Armstrong, while occupying their cottages through all of September will be Mr. and Mrs. John Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barker and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Runyan.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Spurgeon Memorial
Despite the absence of many members on vacation trips, yesterday's meeting of Spurgeon Memorial missionary society was well attended and the 40 or more members present, agreed that it was one of the most interesting and valuable sessions of the year.

Morning hours were devoted to Bible study conducted by Mrs. J. W. Law and mission study led by Mrs. Whiting. At noon, all enjoyed the special dinner prepared as contributions to the potluck menu. The afternoon session opened with transaction of business under direction of the president, Mrs. D. W. Glasner. Then the speaker, Mrs. Edna Alger Gall, was introduced and held her listeners enthralled with her talk on China, and the missions in which she has devoted the past fourteen years to teaching. In the school in northern China where she has taught, there were 200 girl students, who found it possible to live on less than two dollars a month.

All the work of the dormitories, kitchens and dining room was taught them together with school lessons until by the time of their graduation they were competent to take positions as teachers. Personal experiences and impressions were related by Mrs. Gall and also details of the country, its resources and other facts that made her talk wonderfully interesting.

Paris Recognizes Sport Frock Also Adds Individual Touches

SUGGESTIVE OF A STICK OF PEPPERMINT CANDY IS THE SPORT FROCK ON THE LEFT WHILE NEXT TO IT IS AN INTERESTING JACKET EFFECT IN VELVET OR WOOL. THE THIRD FROCK IS FASHIONED FROM APPLE GREEN CREPE COMBINED IN A DECIDEDLY PARISIAN MANNER, WITH BLACK.

No type of dress is being given more careful and sophisticated attention in Paris than the sport frock.

Practically every authentic couturier has a department devoted entirely to these charming and informal frocks, and all the little touches of individuality, and the tricks of line and cut that more formal clothes have are reflected on them.

Sport clothes were first sponsored by the English woman, and then by the American, but it was not until Paris began to recognize their existence that they were raised to any sartorial importance.

Each year the number of occasions when sport attire is appropriate grows. In the winter, for instance, there is no real need for sport clothes on the part of most women who do not go south, or north, for winter sports, and yet they are worn everywhere as casually as afternoon frocks.

In fact, the sport dress, and modifications of it, have become standard day attire, particularly for the flapper and the young matron.

No woman who has kept her figure youthful need hesitate to wear sport attire. And no one need question its absolute propriety for general wear.

Pictured today are three of the most approved fall models. The sleeveless model will continue for winter, and usually is shown with an interesting jacket effect in velvet or wool. The one photographed is of rose flat crepe, trimmed with bands of the same material on the cross grain. The skirt is knife pleated in groups in front and back, and is the abbreviated length that Paris decrees.

Very suggestive of a stick of peppermint candy is the striped model which comes from Chantal. The blouse is of rose colored kasha cloth and the skirt is of striped red. Shades of rose, black and green. The striped red is very cleverly used to trim the belt and sleeves, and is made into ribbons for the tie.

This very long type of blouse is very popular in Paris, and is extremely smart on the tall figure. A one-piece frock of much charm, and of a type very becoming to the heavier figure, is worn by the mannequin with the hat. The material is apple green flat crepe, combined very smartly with black crepe which binds the sleeves and gives smartness to the hem of the pleated skirt.

The tie fastening, with its suggestion of black, is a little touch of its French originator, Paquin, which has no excuse for being except that it adds immeasurable charm and originality. A medium-sized hat of French velvet sounds the right note in millinery.

Jumpers, despite their popularity this summer, are extremely smart for fall in all materials, particularly in velvet, velveteens and crepes. However, there are ever so many one-piece costumes shown, which give the appearance of being jumpers. Lines are straight and comfortable, but belts are very much in evidence, and pleated sections make skirts comfortable and roomy.

In colors, rose, green, blue and the fashionable red tones prevail. Hats infrequently contrast with the costume instead of matching it.

of the United Presbyterian church was held at the home of Mrs. W. B. Gibson, 209 Edgewood road, on a recent evening.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Will Lindsay. Miss Mary Smart had charge of the devotions. The remainder of the evening was turned over to Mrs. Hogue, who gave very a interesting report on the Women's General Missionary society's convention, held at Monmouth, Ill. in June.

After the program Mrs. Gibson, assisted by Myra Gibson, served tempting refreshments.

Honeymooners Return From San Diego

Returning from a brief honeymoon trip to San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney T. Carmack were today receiving the congratulations of their many friends on their marriage, an event of Saturday, September 4.

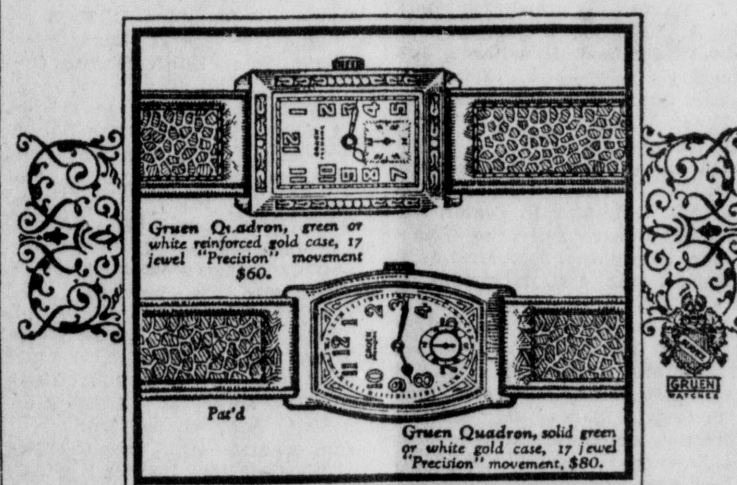

Mrs. Carmack was Mrs. Sadie Ross. Their wedding was a very quiet one, taking place at the parsonage home on Van Ness avenue, of the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church. The happy couple will greet their friends at their new home, 326 East Pomona avenue.

Mr. Carmack is a tailor of the city.

PARTY GROUPS PREPARE FOR ORGANIZATION

With meetings of the Republican and Democratic central committees scheduled, by law, for next Tuesday, when organization is slated, County Clerk J. M. Backs was busy today verifying the official vote for members of the committee, in order to prepare credentials for the successful candidates.

The official count shows that Glen F. McKelvey, of Huntington Beach, succeeded in breaking into the ranks of the Republican committee in the second district, displacing Robert D. Richards, of Seal Beach. Richards was barely nosed out by his fellow committeeman, L. W. Blodgett, of Huntington Beach, who had a margin of six votes. William F. Morrill completes the committee in that district. Morrill headed the ticket with 1153 votes, McKelvey coming next with 1033, while Blodgett received 953 and Richards 947.

"Write-in" votes
"Write-in" votes filled several places in other districts, where candidates had not officially filed for the committee. In the third district a tie exists between Charles Barr and William Wickersheim, of Fullerton, each receiving 204 votes for last place on the ticket. Five candidates had filed for the six places on the committee and Barr, Wickersheim and William Stark, of Anaheim, were "write-in" candidates. Stark received 201 votes.

Another contest in the fifth district disclosed an incumbent from the committee. H. H. Williamson, Newport Beach councilman, was defeated in a contest between four candidates for three places. Fred W. Conkey, of Laguna Beach, defeated Williamson, his vote being 1132 to 910 for Williamson. The other two incumbents were re-elected, John Osterman receiving 1452 votes and M. B. Wellington, 1354 votes.

The five candidates regularly nominated were W. E. Alexander, Sam L. Collins, E. C. Dutton, H. B. Irwin and Frank Tausch. There were no contests in the first and fourth districts, the former electing P. G. Beissel, R. A. Cushman, Stanley E. Goode, S. M. Reinhaus, G. K. Scovel, Charles D. Swanner and John C. Wallace while the fourth district elected J. F. Allen, W. F. Feldner, C. F. Newton and J. D. Thomas.

Democratic Contest
In the Democratic committee selections, a contest developed for the first place in the first district, where only four candidates had filed. They were G. A. Edgar, H. C. Head, C. D. Overshiner and B. E. Tarver. In the write-in campaign for the fifth place John G. Mitchell defeated W. B. Martin by a vote of 27 to 25.

Only two candidates, Bruce Moore and J. H. Tennant, had filed in the third district for the eight places there. The six vacant places were won by L. P. Drake, with 17 votes; Perry Woodward, 14; S. W. McCulloch, 6; B. C. Rogers, 6; W. H. H. Hunt, 4, and Cuthbert Miller, 4. Victor Porter received 3 votes and Sam Snodgrass, 2 votes.

In the fourth district, which has three places on the committee, there were no regularly nominated candidates and two of the incumbents, J. A. Smiley and D. G. Wettlin, each received one vote. One vacancy still remains. Since D. G. Wettlin has moved out of the district, there may be two vacancies.

In the second and fifth districts there were no contests, W. H. Bentley, D. W. Huston and Charles C. Violet being elected in the second and Morris Enderle, Sam W. Nau and James S. Rice in the fifth district.

BARR WILL ATTEND L. A. CLUB MEET

Wilbur Barr, president of the Santa Ana Advertising club, has been invited to sit at the speakers' table for the luncheon that will mark the opening of the seventeenth year of activity of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles next Tuesday, at noon, in the Biltmore hotel.

Marshall Dana, president of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs association, will be the speaker of the day. Dana has an important message for Southern California clubs, but it will be impossible for him to personally visit each of the individual organizations in Southern California.

President Barr, however, will bring a report of the meeting to members of the Santa Ana Advertising club.

Plans are being outlined this year for a closer contact between the Advertising Club of Los Angeles and similar organizations in Southern California and members of one group already have asked for the privilege of coming in a body to a meeting of the Los Angeles club to catch the spirit of enthusiasm that prevails in a larger organization.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

U. S. CHAMBER WORK RELATED BY CLAGSTONE

Matters connected with the organization, activities and administration policies of the United States Chamber of Commerce, ranging in importance from the Dawes reparation plan and the national budget law to water conservation and the marketing of California fruit were touched upon by Paul Clagstone, manager of the western division of the national chamber, in an interesting address yesterday afternoon before the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, at St. Ann's Inn.

W. Verne Whitson, president of the club, presided over the meeting, and Clyde W. Rowland was in charge of the program. In addition to a record attendance of local members, there were a number of visiting Kiwanians from nearby cities, as well as several guests.

Federation of Chambers
Clagstone began his address by explaining the outstanding organizational features of the United States Chamber of Commerce, which, he pointed out, is a federation of some 1400 local chambers, located in various parts of the country. Among the latter is the Santa Ana chamber, he explained.

The western division, maintaining headquarters in San Francisco, he explained, with the eastern, the northern central and the southern central, was established under a decentralization plan adopted in 1923, and includes the states of Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, also Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines.

He stated that, because of its location in Washington, D. C., the purpose and activities of the national chamber have not only been misunderstood, but sometimes subjected to criticism by those not familiar with the situation. In this connection, he said that the United States Chamber of Commerce is located in the national capital for the same reason that the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor is located there—to be close to and in constant touch with the national legislature.

Laws Affect Business
In this age of commercial civilization, he continued, almost every legislative measure affects business in one way or another, hence the business interests of the country must have a well organized agency for expressing their views and making known their wants on all issues that are made the subject of legislation.

In the course of his remarks, Clagstone outlined the referendum system employed by the national chamber in ascertaining the opinion of its affiliated bodies throughout the country on all questions of national importance. For this reason, he continued, when the United States Chamber of Commerce submits its findings and recommendations to congress, either voicing approval or opposition to a proposed bill or legislative measure, such representations are not the mere views of a few chamber executives residing in the national capital, but they reflect the serious views of American business, as set forth in the referendum questionnaires.

The speaker followed up with the statement that this fact is well known to the members of congress, a circumstance which explains the careful consideration given any matter submitted to the national legislature by the chamber.

Represents Business
Speaking further along this line, Clagstone said that the United States Chamber of Commerce functions principally to represent American business in the national legislature.

Touching upon the policies adopted by the chamber in dealing with economic problems, the speaker made it plain that the organization is unalterably opposed to extension of government into business or anything that smacks of government ownership in commercial lines. He warned his listeners against the extension of government forcing the government into every line of business activity, which, he emphasized, indicates a drift toward Bolshevism. Coupled with this observation, he told the audience that the national chamber has been constantly on guard against advances of this nature, and has been successful in defeating a number of measures that provided for government ownership or governmental control of legitimate business activities.

Backed National Budget
Turning to some of the things accomplished by the national chamber, he cited the federal budget law, the enactment of which was urged by the chamber long before its adoption. This measure, alone, it was asserted, has saved the country hundreds of millions of dollars.

The organization of annual educational pre-vention campaigns, designed to reduce the appalling loss of life and property each year, is another activity of the national organization, it was explained.

According to Clagstone, the United States Chamber of Commerce was among the first on this side of the Atlantic to extend a helping hand to war-ridden Europe following the armistice. The executives of the chamber, prominent men and leaders in their respective lines of activities, realized that, not only the welfare of Europe, but the prosperity of this country, depended upon international exchange and commerce. The buying power of the principal European nations had sunk so low as to reduce imports to practically nothing. As a result, America encountered considerable difficulty in disposing of her surplus goods. Among those to feel the effect of this stagnation were the California fruit growers.

Form International Chamber
It was then that the national chamber launched a move to organize the International Chamber of Commerce, the membership of

NELSON DOUBTS THAT RESULT OF PRIMARY OUSTS HIM FROM FINAL RACE FOR JUDGESHIP

That he seriously doubts the interpretation placed upon the state primary law that would eliminate any one candidate in a contest between four candidates, such as that concerning the two superior court judgeships in Orange county, was stated today by District Attorney Alex P. Nelson, whose elimination in the campaign for superior judge was announced following the vote at the primary election August 31.

Nelson, however, denied that he has planned to institute legal proceedings, as had been rumored, to decide the question whether he was eliminated at the primary or will again have his name on the ballot at the November election with two other of the four candidates. He probably will not take such action, he said.

With four candidates seeking two places on the bench at the primary, Judge Homer G. Ames was elected, having received a majority of all votes cast at the election. Former Judge W. H. Thomas was second; James L. Allen, Santa Ana attorney, was third, and District Attorney Nelson was fourth. When the vote was announced, it was stated that, under the law, Ames having been elected to one of the places, Thomas and Allen would contest for the other place in November. Nelson being eliminated. A total vote of 28,426 was cast in the election. Ames receiving 11,877; Thomas, 10,068; Allen, 8662; and Nelson, 8689. Each voter was privileged to vote upon two candidates.

"I seriously doubt that, with four candidates running, and only one elected, any of the remaining three candidates is eliminated," said Nelson. "I have not yet studied the question thoroughly, but I am inclined to think that all three candidates must make the race again at the general election in such an event."

"I expect to look into the matter more closely, but, in any event, I doubt that I shall do anything about it."

Returns from the primary have revealed that Judge Ames was elected to his own office for the "gap" of four months between the expiration of his appointment from the governor, on election day, and the beginning of his new term, next January 1. All votes were written in, Ames receiving 692; Judge E. J. Marks, 142; and A. P. Nelson, 9. Judge Marks, who is occupying another place on the bench, could not have served had he received the highest vote.

CIVIC BODIES WILL HOLD PARK OUTING

Representatives of chambers of commerce and various civic organizations and many public officials of Orange county will attend the second annual picnic of the Greater Manchester Avenue Improvement association and the twenty-first monthly meeting of the City Planners Association of Los Angeles county, to be held in Orange County park Saturday, September 11, it was announced today by Mrs. Clara R. Cushman, secretary and member of the Santa Ana city planning commission.

According to Mrs. Cushman, this joint meeting will be one of the largest and most important civic gatherings ever conducted in Southern California and the speakers selected for the occasion are men nationally known in their respective lines of activity.

Several bands will be on hand to furnish music and a special detail of motorcycle officers has been detailed to handle traffic.

The Greater Manchester Avenue Improvement association is an organization of public spirited citizens and property owners in Los Angeles county, formed for the purpose of furthering the construction of a 100-foot wide, hard surface and electrically illuminated highway from Playa Del Rey to Buena Park, in Orange county.

Police News

Elwayne Wilcox, 303 Hickory street, reported to the sheriff's office last night the theft of his automobile from near the site of the Orange County fair. The machine was stolen between 7:30 and 10 p. m. It had not been recovered last today.

V. F. Mohn, Santa Ana police officer for the last two years, today handed his resignation to City Marshal Claude Rogers. Mohn has accepted a position with the Huntington Beach police department as motorcycle officer and will assume his duties there Saturday. Mohn succeeds Motorcycle Officer Parker, who now holds a position in the police station at Huntington Beach.

which include the leading business men of the world. This body, selecting Paris as its headquarters, realizing that the European governments were unable to deal with economic problems in an effective way, proposed the appointment of a special commission of business men to investigate, report upon and make recommendations in the matter of liquidating war debts. This body became known as the Dawes commission.

At the divisional meeting, to be held at Colorado Springs, December 6 and 7, the Colorado river Boulder dam project and farm relief will be discussed at length, the speaker concluded.

To the Members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Santa Ana, a corporation of the State of California, you are hereby notified that the annual meeting of the members of said Corporation is hereby called for Tuesday, September 14th, 1926, at 2:30 p. m. of that day at the Spurgeon Memorial M. E. Church South, corner of Church and Broadway streets, City of Santa Ana, County of Orange, State of California.

CLOTHES LEAD TO SUSPICION OF DROWNING

With the finding of several articles of clothing on the beach, at Smuggler's Cove, Capistrano Beach, deputy sheriffs have started an investigation to determine whether a drowning occurred there.

The clothes were said to have first been seen lying on the beach last Monday by a fisherman, who later returned to the scene and, seeing the clothes still there, notified Joe Clever, San Juan Capistrano state officer. Clever, in turn, notified the sheriff's office.

The clothes have been brought here and an effort is being made today to determine to whom they belonged. It was reported that a piece of paper, with a name and a Los Angeles street address, was found in a trouser pocket, but this bit of evidence has not reached authorities.

Jim Smith, deputy sheriff, said that he found a piece of paper in a pocket, with the name "Margaret" written on it and a Los Angeles telephone number. He has been unable, thus far, to obtain an answer when telephoning that number.

That the clothes were those of a 14-year-old boy has been determined by the size of the articles of apparel. A pair of long corduroy trousers; a shirt, size 13 1-2, with a dark stripe; a pair of sport shoes, black and white, with rubber soles; a pair of brown cotton socks, and underwear were found on the beach.

The underwear bore the name of Bullocks, Los Angeles, as the place where it was purchased. Laundry marks, number 8821, were found on the various articles.

500 Hear Speech By Mexican Pastor In Orange Church

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—Five hundred people heard the Rev. Vicente Mendoza, of Mexico City, at the Methodist Episcopal church last night. The speaker presented the Mexicans' point of view in their 400-year struggle to obtain political, economical and spiritual independence.

In closing, the Rev. Mendoza pleaded for brotherly understanding and sympathy on the part of the people above the border. A substantial offering was given to help the flood-stricken sufferers in Mexico.

The Gonzales trio, of Santa Ana, pleased with several musical selections. The motion picture on Mexico was very interesting. The Rev. W. W. Hull and the local Mexican missionaries kept things moving. Many pastors from the different towns in Orange county were present with good-sized delegations. The Rev. J. Scott Willmarth, of Wintersburg, and Dr. Benjamin S. Haywood, of Anaheim, took part in the meeting.

Richard C. Dillon, the Republican nominee for governor of New Mexico, began his career in the Southwest some thirty years ago as a rail road track laborer.

Zane Grey, the noted novelist, has bought a large tract in the Rogue river section of Oregon, where he plans to make his summer home and do much of his writing.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years An Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America. These sugar coated, pleasant to take, tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil lisc—They surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at any drugist.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength: "My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was five months old and was an invalid for nine years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Liver Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine and if after thirty days' treatment you are not delighted with results—why get your money back.—Adv.

JURORS CALLED BY JUDGE AMES

A new superior court trial jury panel was summoned late yesterday by Judge Homer G. Ames for service during the last quarter of 1926, the 40 talesmen drawn being ordered to report for duty in Judge Ames' court September 15, at 10 a. m.

The new panel was drawn after the old panel was dismissed, after three months' service. Members of the new panel are:

Henry Diers, John LeBard, George M. King, George W. Minter, William C. Maerhan, Norman Soper, E. J. Brown, Ernest C. Conger, J. B. McDonel, Juan R. Peralta, Mrs. Nona Mullinix, William E. RICKENBACKER
TO TAKE PART IN AIR EVENTS

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, ace of American birdmen with the American expeditionary forces in France during the World war, will fly in the pathfinder ship for the World Flight Commemoration meet September 26. It was disclosed in a report by Com. Berle E. Morthland at the meeting of the Santa Ana Air club last night.

Morthland said that it was assured that Rickenbacker would be present for the celebration of the world flight event.

Santa Ana is one of the ports of call on the route. The ships will start from Clover field, Santa Monica, and make a circuit of cities in Southern California.

Crowd Is Expected
A crowd of 5000 is expected to witness arrivals and take-offs at Eddie Martin's airport, South Main street, Santa Ana, according to Morthland. During the morning program of flying is to be put on for the entertainment of Orange county people and at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the commemorative flight is to begin. The pathfinder ship probably a Martin bomber, will land at the Santa Ana field at about 1:30, according to the schedule.

Committees to handle the arrangements for the meet at Santa Ana airport were appointed by Morthland.

In connection with the plans for the meet, the possibility of selecting a "Queen of the Air," by a vote among Santa Ana girls, was considered.

Santa Ana is the only air club that has accepted the full quota of funds for making Santa Ana a port of call without having civic organizations subscribe the amount, it was said. Morthland said that this indicated that Santa Ana has one of the strongest air clubs in the Southland.

$2500 in Cash Prizes
The entry blanks for competing in the meet are to be in the hands of air pilots at Martin's airport Monday. Several birdmen here are to contest for the $2500 in cash prizes, besides many trophies.

After the plans for the air meet had been concluded, J. O. York, aeronautical engineer at Eddie Martin's airport, gave another of his series of lectures on wing construction.

Committees appointed were as follows:

Judges—Joe Skidmore, George Leonard and George Raymer.

Starters—Chester Young, Jack Colvin and J. W. Martin jr.

Field committee—E. J. Martin, Allen Phelps and W. E. Hammond.

Entertainment committee—Earl Granger, Frank Mason and Russell Peterson.

Policing will be in charge of R. J. Mitchell. Concessions are under the direction of Eddie Martin.

LIP DECORATION CONTEST WILL BE CONDUCTED

Announcement of a mustache-growing contest among Lions of Orange county featured a banquet meeting of Lions clubs and other service clubs, held last night at the fair grounds, with the Women's Civic club, of Garden Grove, catering.

According to announcement by Walter Wents, president of the Garden Grove club, it is hoped to start the contest on October 1 and end it 30 days later. A suitable prize will be given to the club whose members produce, on upper lips, growths of the finest texture, with cute curls on the tips. The president said that five Garden Grove women would be chosen to judge the texture and beauty of the lip adornments.

Pointing out that the growing of mustaches would readily identify Lions wherever they may be, Wents urged that all members of the clubs in Orange county enter into the contest with a spirit of determination to make the affair go over big.

The plan was developed at a recent meeting of the county council of Lions clubs and the proposition will be presented to all the clubs within the next week. With the club giving approval, details of the contest will be developed.

Approximately 200 men and women were present at the dinner, with the clubs of Garden Grove and Orange acting as hosts. Oscar Leichtfuss, president of the Orange club, handled the affair, with Wents officiating as chairman.

Representatives of Kiwanis clubs also were present. Two parties were held efficiently in collecting fines from late arrivals and from others for various reasons. Fines collected by the clubs go into the charity fund and the total of last night's collection made a neat little sum, to be divided between the Orange and Garden Grove clubs.

Vocal duets and solos and dancing by the Misses Sally and Dorothy Coe, of Orange, offered the special entertainment features of the meeting.

PLAYGROUNDS TALK TO BE BROADCAST

Citizens of Santa Ana, who listen in over radio KNX at 6:15 tonight, will hear a 2000-word talk broadcast about Santa Ana playgrounds, according to George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

Raymer prepared the article some time ago and sent it to Arthur B. Tebbetts, of the Los Angeles Express.

Tebbetts will read the article over the radio tonight and it will be published in the Los Angeles Express tomorrow.

IDEAS and Ideals

A. V. NAPIER

On December 14, the people of Orange county will decide whether or not they want to spend $650,000 on the improvement of the Newport Harbor entrance. Much interesting matter, both pro and con, will no doubt be placed before the voters during the next three months, but the most important feature involved in the proposed improvement concerns the saving of human lives. The harbor commission members and the board of supervisors are convinced that the proper expenditure of $650,000 will make the entrance to Newport harbor a comparatively safe place for small craft and for swimmers.

The entrance to Newport harbor is fast getting a reputation as a place to be avoided. A person in Pasadena recently remarked, while preparing for a trip to the beach: "Let's not go to Newport—that's where so many people get drowned." It is true that the person's information was not complete when she made that remark, but a non-resident cannot be expected to know too much about the beach. There are plenty of safe places in the Newport bay district, but a bad reputation is one of the easiest things in the world to acquire—and one of the most difficult to be rid of.

Those familiar with the history of the bay entrance, know that a bad reputation for that particular stretch of water is absolutely justified. Several drownings occur in or near the harbor entrance every year. Considering the chances poorly informed persons take, it is remarkable that there are not more disasters in the channel entrance. Six people were pulled out of the channel during the last week-end, all more or less in a state of exhaustion. The only reason that half a dozen deaths from drowning do not occur there every week is that a highly efficient life guard system is maintained, and that constant vigilance is exercised to prevent fatalities.

The record shows that virtually every town in Southern California has contributed at least one victim to the entrance of Newport harbor. Is there any wonder the place is getting a bad name? During the next 12 months, if the record goes on as it has in the past, nearly a score of citizens will be drowned in this treacherous water. Nobody knows just who—perhaps some of your neighbors, or possibly a member of your family—the law of averages will bring a disaster close to home sooner or later.

The spending of $650,000 on the harbor entrance will make the channel more comfortable for yachts and small shipping. It will save the work that has previously been done from being washed into the sea. It will be an important step in the general direction of future progress and harbor development. It will cause the employment of many idle men, and will stop the spread of a damaging reputation throughout the country, but if none of these things was going to result from the expenditure of the $650,000 the single fact that the proposed work will save the lives of a dozen people next year, should fully justify the expense.

Aristotle said, "The knowledge of the house is not limited to the builder only; the user, or in other words, the master, of the house will even be a better judge than the builder, just as the pilot will judge better of a rudder than the carpenter, and the guest will judge better of a feast than the cook."

George Ragan and his son, Paul Ragan, have entered into a partnership to be known as the Ragan agency, with offices at 302 North Broadway.

Paul Ragan comes to this partnership with expert knowledge of fire and casualty insurance, having been employed for the past five years by the Hartford Fire Insurance company, both in the general offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles, and as state special agent in Arizona, in charge of fire and casualty business in that territory. He will have charge of the insurance department of the firm, writing all lines of insurance and bonds.

George Ragan will continue in charge of the loan department as Orange county manager of the Western Loan and Building company, of Salt Lake City. Mrs. Ragan, who has been chaperon and office manager with her husband for the past three years, will continue in that capacity with the new firm.

BUILDERS' QUERIES ANSWERED

By Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America

Q. What does single strength window glass weigh per square foot? Is double strength glass twice as heavy?

A. Single strength window glass weighs 18½ ounces per square foot and double strength glass weighs 24½ ounces per square foot. European single strength glass weighs 16 ounces per square foot and double strength weighs 21 ounces per square foot.

Q. I notice that many of the stucco houses are cracking very badly. I contemplate building a stucco home and will appreciate it if you will advise what method of construction to use which will prevent cracking.

A. Cracks appear in stucco houses from various causes, one of which is an inferior foundation. Many houses are built on light foundations without giving any consideration to sub-soil conditions. If the ground is adobe the foundation should be carried below the adobe strata, else the builder should place a six-inch sand cushion under and on both sides of the foundation. This will prevent any contracting or expansion of the adobe, from raising the house at one point more than another, which is one of the principal causes for cracks in stucco buildings. All corners should be reinforced by a 12-inch strip of metal lath. Care should be exercised in applying the stucco.

Q. Water leaks in at the top of several windows during each rain. How can this be prevented? The house is of stucco finish.

A. Remove the stucco above each window for a few inches and place metal flashing, which should have been done at the time the house was built. The stucco can be patched over the flashing.

Father and Son Form Insurance Bond Partnership

BUILDERS INVITE REALTORS TO MEET

Realtors of Orange county will be the guests of the Orange County Builders' exchange at the exchange's dinner meeting in Legion hall next Tuesday evening. It was announced today by Elmer Schaniel, manager of the organization. The realty men have been invited due to the fact that the proposed $2,000,000 veterans' bond issue will be discussed at length by M. B. Wellington and others. If the issue passes at the November election, a huge amount of real estate and building activity is anticipated.

Two speakers will be provided by the speakers' bureau of the Los Angeles Builders' exchange. A program of entertainment is being arranged by a committee consisting of Orden Markel, C. E. McGowan and Maurice Phillips.

The exchange meeting was originally scheduled for last Tuesday but was postponed because of the county fair. The dinner, which will start at 6:30 o'clock, will be served by members of the Legion auxiliary.

COMMENCE REALTY SESSIONS SEPT. 16

A class in real estate practice and land economics being formed by the Santa Ana Realty board will start its sessions at 602 North Main street September 16 at 7 o'clock. It was announced today by Ray C. Goodcell, who will be class leader. The course will extend over a period of 13 weeks. It is sponsored jointly by the California Real Estate association and the University of Southern California. The course is open to any one interested in learning more about the real estate business and prospective students may enroll any day between the hours of 8:30 and 5:30 o'clock.

Approximately 4000 students, representing 52 real estate boards of the state, have received real estate instruction since the course was inaugurated three years ago.

L. A. ARTIST IS VICTORIOUS IN FAIR EXHIBIT

The department of fine arts at the Orange County fair is one of the finest ever shown in the county. Artists of Laguna Beach, including many of the best known present day American artists have entered pictures. The prizes presented the artists ranged from $100 for the first prize picture to $25 for third prize. A number of pictures were presented ribbons and given honorable mention by the judges. Arthur Miller, art editor of the Los Angeles Times and Anthony Anderson, former art editor of the Los Angeles Times were the judges. The first prize in the fine arts department was awarded to Mabel Alvarez of Los Angeles. The picture titled "Rosie" characterized a negro washerwoman. Second prize was awarded to Henry de Kruijff, of Los Angeles for his picture "Inspiration." William A. Griffith of Laguna Beach, was awarded third prize on his picture "In Santiago Canyon." Honorable mention was given as follows: Jean Goodwin of Santa Ana, 1st; P. Carl Smith of Pasadena, 2nd; Ruth Peabody, of Laguna Beach, 3rd; Mary E. Pottenger, of Pasadena, 4th; Roy G. ## STUDENTS OF PRINTING GET UNION CREDIT

Students of printing in the Santa Ana polytechnic high school, on entering the trade, will be received by the International Typographical union with full credits for all class work, this school having been placed on the accredited list of the union after an inspection of the methods of instruction employed by J. M. Murray, representative of the bureau of education of the international union, who has been making a survey of printing in vocational schools and colleges and who was in Santa Ana this week.

"The system of trade education as applied to the printing art, employed in the Santa Ana polytechnic high school," said Murray, "meets the high standards set for our own apprentices by the International Typographical union, who are required to enroll in and complete the International Typographical Union lessons in printing before being admitted as journeymen members of the union. This course is conducted from headquarters in Indianapolis and is supplementary to shop practice. The lessons are a tie-up between the theoretical and practical in printing and are the product of the best brains in the printing industry, embodying what is practically a college education in the printing arts. More than 8500 union apprentices are now enrolled in this course.

"On request of numerous school authorities, the international union has decided to make these lessons available to vocational schools, which is to follow our practical methods. T. E. Williams, instructor of printing in the Santa Ana polytechnic high school, is a practical printer of wide experience and has the vision which will permit his students to take their place in the trade with honor.

"High school students with the proper training are making the best apprentices in the printing trade and we aim to draw our future supply from this source. In some schools vocational training is conducted without full thought or knowledge of trade requirements and the student, on leaving school, finds himself, whatever the cultural value of his experience, with little knowledge of practical use. Under the methods employed by Williams, who uses the International Typographical Union lessons in printing, graduates can step from the school into the trade with full credits for all work accomplished."

CYCLIST INJURED WHEN HIT BY CAR

Clifford Marston, 1516 West First street, suffered lacerations about the head at 3 a. m., today, when he was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile said to have been driven by Kenneth Vaught, 17, 911 West First street, according to a report filed with the city police. The accident occurred in front of the Vaught home, when Vaught was turning from the street into his yard. Marston was on his way to work at the time of the accident, it was said.

After being given medical attention by a physician, who was called by police officers, Marston was able to return to his home.

WEST COAST-WALKER

"Thank You," the screen version of John Golden's stage success, which has been playing to capacity audiences at the West Coast-Walker theater, will close its eminently successful run tonight. It is a personal triumph for a great cast, including Alec Francis, as the minister; George O'Brien, Jacqueline Logan, J. Farrell MacDonald, George Fawcett and Vivian Ogden. The story of "Thank You" deals with the trials of a poorly paid small town minister and involves the hypocrisy of self-appointed guardians of the morals of the community. Humor and pathos are blended admirably and the picture is a portrayal of rural life that will rank with "Way Down East," "The Old Homestead," and others.

WEST COAST-WALKER

The Fanchon and Marco "Specialty" vaudeville bill is again headlined by Gibson's Navigators, the girl-minstrel band that has been delighting Santa Ana audiences during the past week. The Navigators will be here only three days longer, going directly to the Metropolitan theater in Los Angeles, where they are to play an indefinite engagement.

White and Noir present an act called "Harmony and Melodies," which is highly entertaining. Jim and Bee McIntyre in "Wild Oats," offer comedy dialogue and dancing that is novel in type and very funny.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

In diversified entertainment lies the strength of vaudeville. This being true, the Association Vaudeville bill coming to the Yost Broadway theater tonight, should be unusually pleasing, as the offerings of the various artists cover a range wide enough to satisfy the most discriminating.

The featured act is "Cafe Alabam," depicting a night in a backtown cafe, with all the appurtenances of a cabaret in view, including a five piece negro orchestra, embellished with entertainers. The entertainers consist of two girls of sombre hue singing harmony and solo numbers, and a dancing waiter.

Manny Smith and Nat Cantor are "Uptown People," and will offer a melange of music and mirth, with one of the boys doing his stuff at the piano.

A surprising ventriloquial accomplishment will be demonstrated by the Great Howard, "International Ventriloquist." He will cause his dummy to speak in two voices apparently simultaneously, which is said to be as entertaining as it is remarkable.

Gilda Gray, noted hula-hula dancer, will be seen on the Yost Broadway screen in "Aloma of the South Seas." Percy Marmont and Warner Baxter are in the cast.

Pan Dandy Bread is baked in Santa Ana. At all grocers.

For school, bicycle tires specially priced. Henry's, 427 W. 4th.

Pay your body a living wage

The cheerful functioning of all parts of the body never results when the tissue is starved and the vitality depleted—which follow irregular or incomplete elimination.

The only method which will insure a successful, smoothly operating bodily machine is: Full absorption of necessary food elements—complete and regular elimination of waste.

Roman Meal, the perfect grain food, is the "Happy Medium" between the too-finely refined cereals and white flour foods, and the necessary, but coarse bran which contains very little nutriment, and which should not be used except when "relieved" by a grain product such as flaxseed which dilutes the harshness of the bran and gently lubricates the "tract."

Serve Roman Meal—you worried mothers of under-nourished children, each way some day, in any one of the twenty-five different ways, and see your proud little ones improve! See, too, how tired husbands enjoy it and improve, too!

COUNTY LEADS ENTIRE STATE IN NEW WELLS

the discovery of oil in the west end, as the district was given over entirely to residences prior to the discovery of "black gold."

Well Increases Flow

At Seal Beach, the Marland Oil company's marvel well, the Bixby No. 2, continues to increase its flow, latest reports crediting the well with over 1900 barrels daily. The well came in several weeks ago at an initial flow of approximately 1200 barrels. Millions of dollars have been expended in efforts to secure oil at Seal Beach, the Marland, the last company to enter the field, being the only one to secure production. Drilling was started in the district more than five years ago by the Seal Beach Oil company, which was financed largely by residents of Seal Beach and nearby communities. The Marland, Standard and Associated have large holdings in the district and plans are under way by these concerns to sink a number of wells this fall.

The Standard Oil company recently secured a good producer on land leased from the Anaheim Union Water company and located on Yorba Linda lake. The Standard plans to drill a number of wells on the property, it is understood.

New wells are being drilled at frequent intervals in the Brea and Olinde fields, noted throughout the west for high gravity oil.

The difficulty in bringing the heavy oil to the surface is declared to be the reason why the Costa Mesa and Newport fields have not been drilled extensively. When the problem of getting the heavy fluid to the surface is solved, drilling will proceed with vigor, it is predicted.

Washington, Main Service Station One of Best In Orange County

Each day during August, Ben Selk dispensed more Pan gas to the motoring public than he did in July, a check on the amount of gasoline sold revealed today.

That, Selk believes, is only a starter.

Selk's station is located at the intersection of Main street and Washington avenue. This week, equipment was installed for a tire shop and wash rack, to be operated by Lutz and Oliver, and an ignition department, to be in charge of Lawrence and Danforth.

The location of the station on the state highway is regarded by Selk as being exceptionally favorable. Moreover, with the extension of Pan gas stations to cities all along the coast, he expects the quantities of Pan gas to win the approval of more people.

An unusual feature of the super station service is the wash rack installed by Lutz and Oliver. Cold water under high pressure is to be used for cleaning cars. This is claimed to be an advance over the steam process. The cold water cleans the car without removing the film of oil protection on the external engine surfaces.

The work of construction has been virtually completed. Lawrence and Danforth formerly were employed in the Studebaker and Dodge plants.

Prima Donnas of Horse World Delight Fair Crowds

WORLD'S BEST GAITED HORSES SHOWN AT FAIR

Equine prima donnas, as temperamental as any human artist, well cognizant of "what it's all about."

That is the description given the highly trained and highly valuable gaited horses, including Easter Star, Watterson and Jack Frost, which are taking part in the blue ribbon horse shows each evening, with the exception of Thursday evening, at the tenth annual Orange county fair.

The description was supplied by J. P. Sweeney, rider for the Bel-Air stables, of Los Angeles, where nearly 100 of the most valuable horses on the Pacific coast are kept. Sweeney will ride Hotentot, owned by John L. Vaughn, and Jack Frost, in the Bel-Air string, while Hubert Young, also rider for the Bel-Air stables, will mount Easter Star, Watterson, Prince Pal and others of the famous horses brought to the fair grounds from Los Angeles.

"Watch these horses wag their heads after their events," Sweeney said. "They know what it's all about all right. When the band begins to play, before the night shows, they dance and whiney and nibble at their riders, full of expectancy as to what the evening may bring forth. It is not unusual that they should show horse sense in the regard. All most from the time they are suckling colts, they have constantly drilled into them the requirements of good show animals," Sweeney said.

Jack Frost Out
Jack Frost was the first horse worked out today. He danced and wheeled and cantered, glad to get out of his box stall and into the sunlight. Previous to his appearance he had been pampered and primed by a crew of grooms who went over him, and his mates as well, to detect the slightest flaw in his appearance. He would swing into his respective gait with the utmost ease and was a picture to behold, with his roan coat shining in the sun. The other horses followed and "acted up" much in the same manner a moving picture actress would when going onto the set for the first time in a starring picture.

The first stake event in the horse show Friday evening will be in the three gaited open class. This is a $400 stake offered by the city of Santa Ana. Jack Frost is entered in this event, as well as three gaited animals from San Diego and Hollywood. The next stake event is for polo ponies, the prize being offered by Dr. L. C. Deming, of Anaheim. Mrs. J. C. Flores will enter, in this event, the horse which won in this class at the Ambassador horse show, Jones Brothers, Jack House and Mrs. J. G. Bigelow will also have entries in this event.

Five Gaited Class
The five gaited open class will be held Saturday evening and will be featured by the entry of Easter Star, grand champion at Madison Square Garden last year, a horse which has been estimated to be worth between $25,000 and $35,000. Hotentot, one of the best known horses in America, having traveled from coast to coast many times and shown in every horse show of major importance, will also be seen in this event. Watterson, owned by C. O. Middleton, King Midas, owned by Roy Keys, of Wilmington, and Prince Pal, owned by Irving Hellman, will furnish further competition. The fair association has offered a $400 stake in this event.

Miss Alice Lashley, riding King, and Miss Babe Clasyby, riding Ginger, both of the Palos Verdes stables, will be entered in the three gaited open events.

LEGION DANCE POPULAR WITH NIGHT CROWDS

Kingly robes and Spanish costumes added a touch of color to the dance hall at the county fair last night, when players from the pageant, attracted by the music from the Shell twelve-piece orchestra, joined the fox-trotting crowd on the new ballroom floor, and aided in judging the evening's dancing contest.

The waltz was selected by County Commander Ted Craig, of the American Legion, chairman of the dance committee, for last night's prize event; and starting with a crowded floor, six couples were finally selected to dance of the finals, applause from the spectators being the deciding factor in choosing the winning couple.

A process of elimination resulted in the selection of Miss Edna LeBlanc and Julius Kluthe of Anaheim as the 1926 prize winners of the Orange county fair; and after receiving their prizes they promised to be on hand to help judge the fox-trotting contest, which has been set for tonight at 10:30.

Tomorrow night the big attraction will be the male and female beauty contest, and entries already in are said to show that the idea is a welcome departure from the bathing beauty idea. Friday night has been named "College Night," the younger element will be showing the latest steps, and the series of dances will end Saturday night with a grand finale, the big carnival event of the week.

Would you like your hat and frock of the latest design? Then call at 221 South Main. Phone 15053.

LAST SHOWING OF PAGEANT TONIGHT

Top—Queen Valencia (Audrey Isbell Peterson) and King Placentia (Ed Newman) who have prominent parts in the allegorical pageant "Birth of an Empire," which is to be given for the last time at the Orange county fair tonight. Over 200 citizens of Orange county take part in the pageant. Inset center—Ed Marble, driver of the stage coach in one of the principal episodes of the pageant. At the bottom is shown the stage coach which is held up by the Indians.

Orange County Fair Notes

Enormous Exhibit
Mrs. H. J. Hinrichs, chairman of the Culinary Arts exhibit at the Orange county fair, is made—well, not stark, staring, raving mad, but decidedly peeved, all because some housewives thought that fruit had to be canned in wide-mouthed jars in order to be exhibited in her department. "I could have made my exhibit ever so much larger, if this misinformation had not been circulated," she declared. But then the fair officials would have had to put a "tent bulger" to work to have gotten any more exhibits in that tent.

Junior Fair
One of the cleverest specimens of wood carving on exhibition in the junior fair is an exact replica of "Pinta," one of the ships Columbus used in discovering the new world, which has been made by Walter Workman, 370 N. Grand St., Orange. The ship is complete and all the little details have been worked out nicely. Even the canvas sails are oiled to give them an appearance of age. Walter is only thirteen years of age and deserves special mention.

Boy Scouts Exhibit
Folks who expect to go camping in the near future, or any other time should drop into the boy scout tent at the Orange County Fair and get a first hand lesson on the proper method of making a camp. Here the boys have displayed under a title of "Conservation" both proper and improper methods of building camp fires and methods of leaving the camp, protecting the forest, and other things necessary to know in forestry are nicely displayed and it is an education to visit the tent.

Circulates Petition
S. W. Miller is circulating a petition at the Orange County Fair and making some quiet observations on the side. The petitions ask the Supervisors to arrange to buy the grounds for a permanent fair site and is being generously signed. Mr. Miller says that he has found that about half the people he has asked are not residents of Orange county and are visitors. Of the Orange county people he meets he finds that about half of them "just dropped into the fair" but had not intended to go when they started from home.

Spirit of Co-operation
The real spirit of co-operation is exhibited by residents of Cypress who made all their entries in the plate exhibit under the name of the Cypress Farm Center. In this manner any prizes won will go to the Center and not the individual. It practically amounts to a donation.

From Health Camp
Each afternoon the fair grounds is invaded by a band of elves clothed only in a breech-clout and glad smiles. They are from the health camp managed by Mrs. Amelia Meagher and, after a short program they return to the camp. Their brevity of dress attracts a good deal of attention.

D. Eymann Huff Present
The reception room of D. Eymann Huff in the live stock tent is quite popular. Mr. Huff has a splendid herd of Jerseys entered at the fair and has utilized one of the stalls by making a pleasing reception room.

Ritner Is Winning
Hal Ritner, a member of the county agricultural club, has won two prizes on his heifer calf. Entering the calf in the general competition he took first place over all in the county and then annexed club prize as well. The heifer calf belonging to Bruce McCoy of Westminster won first place in the club exhibits.

Two Relics
Mrs. L. H. Thrall of the Irvine ranch, contributed two beautiful specimens to the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce exhibit, just because they fit into the scene so well. An old silver teakettle, over 200 years old, and a copper tea brewer of the same era now grace the scene of John Alden and Priscilla Mullens.

Jack Hoxie Present
Jack Hoxie, motion picture actor, starring in western pictures, took part in the rodeo events in the arena Wednesday afternoon and is scheduled to appear again this afternoon, Thursday. With Hoxie were three of his cowboys, Bennie Dolbins, Art Manning and Pike Williams, who have been members of his company for ten years. Mrs. Hoxie's horse, Manitou, threw one of the cowboys in his very first effort at bucking. Hoxie was mounted on his famous steed, Scout.

Saddle Horse Exhibit
Many old timers in Santa Ana and Orange county will be interested in knowing that Claud Hickey is exhibiting western saddle horses at the Orange County fair. He is showing five animals. Hickey and his family were pioneers in Santa Ana, his father being one of the early day livermen here, owning and operating a stable in the present location of the Rossmore hotel building. The family home was at Broadway and Eighth streets, the present home of George S. Briggs. Eighth street formerly was known as Hickey street, being named after James Hickey, father of the man who is making the exhibit at the fair.

Pheasant-Chickens
An exhibit of pheasant-chickens is one of the most interesting entries in the poultry division. The chickens are the result of mating a brown bantam hen with a golden pheasant cock. The fowls are more highly featured than the bantams and are more highly colored than the golden pheasants.

Thousands Are Expected to See Big Pageant at Fair Tonight

Thousands of people are expected to flock to the arena at the Orange county fair grounds tonight to witness the last presentation of this historical pageant "The Birth of an Empire."

The pageant, better this year by far than ever before has drawn many hundreds of Orange county citizens and is one of the outstanding features of the fair program. Under the direction of Mrs. Holly Lash Visel, well known Santa Ana dramatics teacher, and music instructor, the pageant has taken on the polished finish of a master production.

Especially well done are the interpretive dances which are presented by Orange county boys and girls, in charge of Miss Claire Coutant, of Fullerton, instructor for the Kosolet school of dancing of Los Angeles.

Action and thrills abound in the pageant which opens with a scene showing the Indians in an uncivilized state before the coming of the Spaniards. Scenes typical of the life of the Indians are to be seen in the episode. The allegorical pageant then traces the history of California through the years, featuring the coming of the padres, the civilization of the Indian, the coming of the wild frontier days, stage coach robberies, gambling, brawls, the coming of the pioneers in covered wagons. Then with rapid development of the country the interpretive dancing numbers feature the wealthy grape vineyards which the settlers have planted. Another interpretive dance shows the coming of disease to the vineyards and the closing episode brings joy and happiness to the settlers who have planted vineyards and oranges in the place of the grapes and once again are enjoying prosperity.

ored than the golden pheasants at the same age. The chickens have the chirp of the pheasant but have no combs. They are perfectly hardy, which is certainly not an attribute of the golden pheasant. The pheasant-chickens were entered by R. A. Marsden, of Fullerton. The mother bantam and the father pheasant are also on exhibit.

Quackless Ducks
A pen of quackless ducks has attracted considerable attention in the poultry division and has been awarded the grand sweepstakes prize in the silence division. The fowls are sometimes known as "jew" ducks. They are entered by C. Hobson, of Orange.

Turkens Shown
The turkens in the poultry division are the subject of much comment. They represent a combination of a chicken and a turkey and have some of the attributes of both, being slightly smaller than an average turkey and slightly larger than an average hen. Their necks are bare.

WE'LL CURBING SHOWS MARKS MADE IN 1863

"J. E. P., May 30, 1863."

These initials and this date, scratched on bricks, are in the Orange county historical exhibit at the county fair. The exhibit is in charge of Robert C. Northcross.

"These bricks," said Northcross, "were found in the curbing of an old well at the county health camp, near the county park. The health camp is located on land that was part of the stock ranch occupied in the early '60s by Orange county's leading pioneer, J. E. Pleasants, whose home still is in the Santiago canyon."

"About 1860, Pleasants became manager of the Wolfskill ranch and established his ranch house near the old spring, north of the county park."

"Mr. Pleasants walked into the fair the first day and came up to the exhibit. I showed him these bricks. He was puzzled. I told him just where they were found and while he did not remember having scratched the letters and figures on them, he said he must have done so, as he was living there at the time."

In the historical exhibit are a number of grinders and pestles,

THOUSANDS ARE ATTRACTED TO PIKE FEATURES

"Try your luck. It's easy. You can't lose, a win on every number, step right over and let me show you how it goes. Take home a shawl, a blanket, a kewpie doll, a lamp or a ham."

These and many other cries are heard on the midway at the Orange county fair ground. Games of skill, which the operators are always willing to show to the public, attract many hundreds of fair goers, and many hundreds more visit the department for the purpose of riding the tiny railroad train which winds its way about the fair ground and disturbs the equilibrium of the timid with its shrill whistle.

A ferris wheel and an airplane machine for the kiddies also provide attractions which draw the parents and offspring to the amusement lot.

Games of skill, have a drawing power for the public only in accordance with their uniqueness and newness. The old roulette wheel which for years proved so used by Indians in preparing acorns and grain for eating, Indian arrow heads, baskets, blankets, pipes and similar articles.

popular is conspicuous by its absence. The games which depend upon the rolling balls, draw but slight interest and the games where rings are used are a poor second to the ball rolling booths.

Two new features on the midway are the centers of attraction. One of the booths employs lively rubber balls. The balls are thrown through holes by a catapult, which is operated by the player. When the ball goes through one hole a rabbit, electrically operated, dashes up a track. When the second or more difficult hole is struck with the ball the rabbit travels twice as far. The person causing a rabbit to reach the end of the race track first, wins.

The other feature, which so far has been drawing the attention of everyone who has attended the fair and visited the midway, is a hump-te-dumpty race. A board, tilted very slightly is caused to vibrate rapidly by a crank, turned by the player. A hump-te-dumpty is set at one end of the board and the person who causes the toy to travel the length of the board and jump in a hole before the others, is the winner.

Anti-Vivisection

The California Anti-Vivisection society has an exhibit at the tenth Orange county fair. The exhibit indicates how vivisection, in its most horrible forms is carried on in medical laboratories. The exhibit is in charge of Mrs. Rosemond Rags Wright, president of the California Anti-Vivisection Society, and Mrs. Dell C. Hawkeford, secretary. Literature concerning the fight the society is making against vivisection in America is being distributed at the booth.

ICE CREAM CONES IN GREAT DEMAND

"Oh woman in her hour of ease 'Coy, uncertain and hard to please 'When pain and anguish wring the humbled brow—

"A ministering angel thou."

Also, when the malingering need for refreshment arises, every day, every hour at Orange county's successful fair, those obliging women of the Parent-Teacher associations, the Auxiliary of the American Legion and other organizations serve refreshing sandwiches and cones.

From figures obtained through the Excelsior Creamery company, which have the milk and ice cream concession on the fair grounds, the women serve daily over 5000 cones and sandwiches. A split in the deal puts a pretty penny into the treasury of the organizations.

The electric waffle iron also shares in the honors. Freshly baked, with a slice of brick ice cream between, the waffle ice cream sandwich is popular to the extent of some 50 gallons of ice cream each day.

A refrigerator truck is held right on the grounds so that all of the various stands are served and serviced ice cold and pronto.

Wood Carving
Ornamental chains, tiny double trees and fifth chains, carved from wood, made by a resident of Santa Ana, is on exhibit in the educational tent. It is a unique specimen that attracts much attention.

A car of the custom kind— at the price of the other kind —due to One-Profit facilities

CUSTOM beauty of line and finish no longer depends upon the size of your cheque book! —that is the message of this Studebaker Custom Sedan. Good looks in a low-priced car have long been possible—but this is the first time that the tell-tale touches of fine custom treatment have been brought within a modest expenditure.

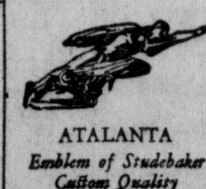

It's a low-priced custom sedan in a high-priced custom setting—swung low like a custom model—lacquered in a duotone color harmony—upholstered with fine Chase mohair—decorated with the custom details of Butler finish hardware and broadlace trim—and complete with every item of custom equipment, including four-wheel brakes, disc wheels, and a ventilating windshield (exclusively Studebaker) which insures fresh air without drafts or moisture.

Underneath the custom luxury of this superb Custom Sedan is the famed longevity of the Studebaker chassis and the most powerful engine in any car of its size and weight. The smooth, vibrationless performance which others still strive to attain has long characterized the quiet Studebaker L-head motor.

and receive a thorough X-Ray examination absolutely without charge or obligation. This is not a catch offer, but means exactly what it says, and you will actually receive free of charge, a report on your bodily condition that would cost you a considerable sum at any competent doctor's office. The Martyn Free X-Ray Chiropractors, who are maintaining well equipped offices at 412-416 Halshush building, corner of Fourth and Main streets, Santa Ana, are making this most generous offer in order to acquaint people with the complete health service they are rendering. A

FREE

X-Ray examination will show clearly all of those little details that are so necessary in making an exact analysis of any sickness or disease. It will show the position of the vertebrae and the condition of the many tiny nerves that supply the body with force or energy. If you have pain or are in a rundown condition, you owe it to yourself to learn what is causing the trouble. An picture will show what must be done if your health is to be restored, and it will eliminate guesswork to the fullest extent. That is why we use it in our work. We would no more think of treating a patient without first X-Raying to locate the cause of the trouble than a carpenter would think of building a house without a plan. If you are not well we suggest that you take advantage of the following offer.

This glass measuring cup

FREE

Next Friday and Saturday at any of the stores listed below—this extra strong, accurate measuring glass will be given free with the purchase of a 2 lb. can of FLUFFO Shortening or a 1 quart can of FLUFFO Salad Oil. Tell your grocer you'll be around for yours!

YOUR grocer is a man of courage. Have you ever thought of him in that way? It doesn't take any courage for a storekeeper to have in stock the same old things and the same old brands, year after year—without change or progress. And that man's customers aren't getting any improvements in food making, or any new ideas of food goodness.

But grocers like those listed below, believe they are in business to give you the advantage of every inch of progress—in the making, selling or serving of the things you put on your table.

That's what takes the courage! It means risking a step out of the beaten path. It means putting money into products believed to be better, in the hope that you will find them to be better.

Here are the grocers who will have a FLUFFO cup for you Next Friday & Saturday

FLUFFO, a pure vegetable shortening, is as light and fluffy as whipped cream. That's why it mixes easily and thoroughly into the dough without so much beating and stirring. Unexcelled for baking or frying, or for any kind of cooking where a cooking fat is required.

FLUFFO Salad Oil, a highly refined, delicate vegetable oil suitable for all kinds of salad dressings. Especially suitable for deep fat frying, because, like, FLUFFO Shortening, it does not smoke or burn at frying temperature

POLY FOOTBALL TACKLES FAR FROM BRIGHT

JOHNSON HOLDS O'DONNELLS TO SOLITARY HIT

Frank Angell, the titian-haired flyhawk of the O'Donnell Motor company indoor baseball team, was the only obstacle that prevented Lloyd Johnson, sterling moundsman for the Fluor Construction company, from turning in a non-run, no-hit game at Lincoln park here last night.

Johnson got the no-run part of it, the Fluors retaining their tie for the Santa Ana City league leadership by decisively defeating the tail-end O'Donnells, 7 to 0, and he had chucked no-hit ball for eight spasms.

Angell was the first O'Donnell stickler in the ninth. He whacked a clean single to left center but remained on base while the talented Johnson, possibly a little disgruntled, retired the next three batters on strikes.

The Fluors hammered "Bud" Johnson, the O'Donnell slinger, mercilessly. Nine members of the team collected bingles and Cole, Snow, Price and Johnson all hit safely twice.

Hits by Cole, Snow and Wayne gave the winners one in the second while an error and base knocks by Rasmussen and Johnson accounted for another in the third. An error, Homer's double, a base on balls, Snow's triple and Price's single were bunched to total four tallies in the sixth. Hits by Cole and Price were contributing factors to the last Fluor score in the eighth.

Only five O'Donnell men reached first base off Lloyd Johnson. Duncan was safe on an error in the second. Clyde Trusty drew a walk in the sixth. Pippas got on an error in the seventh and Clyde Trusty made it the same way in the eighth. Angell singled in the ninth.

The box score:

Fluor Co.	O'Donnell Co.
Fitch 3b 0 1	Carl Trusty 2b 0 0
Rasmussen c 4 0 1	Cannon 2b 4 0 0
Johnson p 4 1 2	Fippe 1b 3 0 0

MOE, M'HUGH LOOM
AS GOLF FINALISTS

DEL MONTE, Sept. 9—Donald Moe, Portland's juvenile wizard in the game once confined to very elderly men, and Johnny McHugh, Olympic club stylist of San Francisco, emerged from the part brilliant and part erratic championship flight of the state golf tourney yesterday, to become the prime favorites for the crown relinquished by George Von Elm.

The sensational young Moe and the veteran McHugh went into the second title fight today, for the largest gallery trailing them, for the spectators generally believed they were watching the potential state champion.

GIRL ASPIRANT IS BEATEN BY CHANNEL

DOVER, England, Sept. 9—Miss Jane Darwin, an Englishwoman, today failed where Gertrude Ederle and Mrs. Clemington Corson triumphed.

Miss Darwin began an attempt to swim the channel at 10:26 o'clock last night and at 7 a. m. today after eight hours and 34 minutes in the water, abandoned the effort. Rough water off the Goodwin lightship defeated Miss Darwin, who was 12 miles off the French coast when she quit.

MEET IN TWO TILTS TONIGHT

All-star indoor baseball teams representing Santa Ana and Orange will collide in two games at Lincoln park tonight.

After a five-inning curtain-raiser between the Santa Ana Girls' club and an aggregation of Orange female athletes, men teams of the two rival cities will settle down to the task of playing off a "grudge" game.

Hoping to show that their defeat in the Orange County league, recently closed, was more or less of an aggregation of Orange female concern, the invaders will bring here their best talent. Lly Richards, the leading Orange underhand flinger, will probably go to the turf and his battery-mate will likely be "Cass" Krueger, former Orange high school football star.

Gene Hitt is scheduled to go to the knoll for the Santa Anas. "Benny" Wilcox will don the back-stopping paraphernalia. John Lutz at first base, Darwin Scott at second, "Memphis" Hill at third and Horace Snow and "Rudy" Rono at the shortstops will complete the local infield. Bill Cole, Randolph Bell and Don Jerome have been nominated for outfield service.

The contest between the girl teams is supposed to get under way at 7 o'clock.

TEN ROUNDS WITH DEMPSEY

Jack Dempsey (left) and Jack Kearns in the days before the heavyweight title and million-dollar prosperity fell their lot.

By JOE WILLIAMS
By now the world knows how the two Jacks—Dempsey and Kearns—split. But only a few know exactly how this friendship that was destined to run into a million-dollar closed corporation was begun.

Briefly, it was begun in a "Trisco" grocery over two large foamy and otherwise desirable skittles of beer.

At the time Dempsey was working in the shipyards, having surrendered all ambitions to be a fighter following a start that was neither encouraging nor an artistic standpoint nor alluring as a means to sudden wealth.

HOUR PERIODS TO BE PUT IN EFFECT HERE

Hour classroom periods will raise the standard of scholarship in the Santa Ana polytechnic high school, Principal D. K. Hammond declared today, in commenting on the change in the school program, to be effected when the fall term opens Monday.

Inquiries in other schools in the Southland were made before the revision of the schedule was decided upon here. The hour periods were found to promote the scholastic standing of the students and offer advantages over the 40-minute period system, which has been in force in the Santa Ana school.

Last spring the decision was reached to make the change and registration was conducted on that basis.

A typical program, according to Hammond, will include four daily class recitations in major subjects, one period for gymnasium three times a week and seven hours for study.

Not all the hour period is to be used for recitation. The last 20 minutes are to be given over to study in preparation for the next day's assignment. Hammond believes that it is in this that the new program is an advance.

"Interest begets interest," Hammond quoted. "When the student begins to study, he will become attentive and that is what will result by providing the 20-minute study period for each class."

In each major subject, 40 minutes of study should be spent in preparing assignments, Hammond said. With 20 minutes provided in class, only another 20 minutes study, chiefly in reference work, will be demanded outside.

The school day will be divided into six periods. For most subjects, allowed only a half unit, a half period will be given. By splitting one of the hour periods, the school schedule for some students will be of seven-period duration.

SCHOOL SCHEDULE HERE ANNOUNCED

By the direction of the board of education, the following schedule will be carried out in the junior and senior high schools of Santa Ana for the coming year, beginning September 13:

Morning session, 8:05 to 11:20 a. m.; luncheon, 11:20 to 12 m.; afternoon, 12 m. to 3:10 p. m.

In answer to inquiries regarding uniforms approved by the board of education for girls of Julia Lathrop junior high school, the dean wishes to inform mothers that each girl is expected to be provided on Monday with the following for school wear:

Skirts, dark blue, preferably serge, plain or pleated; middie; white, with blue collar and cuffs; ties, ninth grade, black; eighth grade, dark blue, and seventh grade, green; cotton hose and low heel shoes.

All articles for the uniform may be obtained from Santa Ana merchants. The ties are on sale at prices ranging from 49 cents to $1. Other inquiries will be answered by Mrs. Iva M. Webber, dean of the school, telephone 2044J.

OBITUARY

D. H. Dunkin died at his home, 1602 West First street, on September 4, 1926, at the age of 76 years. Funeral services were held here today. He was the husband of Anna C. Dunkin and the father of O. H. Dunkin, Mrs. Bruce Hayes, Mrs. E. F. Wickersham, Mrs. J. J. Williams, Mrs. J. P. Graham and Mrs. C. E. Horshman.

How brief and shorn of all sentiment are these lines. But in the hearts of a multitude of friends dwell memories tender and reminiscent of this man's life. Born in Sullivan county, Illinois, he was a resident of Santa Ana for the last twenty-five years, and an officer in the church for forty-eight years.

What an opportunity this man has had to serve his day and age. To every opportunity he proved himself a faithful, true, generous, Christian. He was like the tall tree of the forest, spreading his branches of shelter wide, affording rest and care, tempering the rays of the sun, protecting from the storm and wind. What a pleasure it was to look upon him. Tall, kindly, stately, he stood with and among his fellows reaching out to them understanding sympathy. The children live to play about his feet. To his children and to his grandchildren he was like a great sheltering, protecting, understanding tree of safety from every danger and sharing in all their joys. Happy indeed was the home that grew about him for with the soul of a child he touched childhood; with the gentleness of a mother he smoothed away the pain from suffering brows and bore the burdens of the weak in his strong arms.

In his untimely home-going the church has lost one who was a doer of the Word, one who loved and was ever ready to sacrifice for every good cause.

The community has lost a friend in time of need; the family losing the bodily presence, weakened by disease, has a heritage of memories that no riches could purchase.

And we who are of the brotherhood of the church will miss his face among his fellows but remembering his life will strive more consistently to live up to her teachings and will appreciate more fully what Christian living may be.

—A Friend.

MEN AND WOMEN OVER 70 PICNIC

Among the 1000 persons who gathered in Sycamore grove, Los Angeles, last Saturday, for an unusual picnic, was Frank E. 201 East Ninth street. The picnic was for people of Southern California who are over 70 years of age, and all the good "children" admitting to that number of years were given coffee.

Besides the chairman, the minister and the persons on the program, only those over 90 years were allowed on the platform. The first man up was Jonathan Faulk, who claimed 103 years. Running a pretty close second to him was G. M. Cole, who was 100 years old. Dr. V. S. Soraster, 93, was among those on the platform.

TEN ROUNDS WITH CHAMP-ROUND TWO

dry and divers sorts. From that night on Dempsey and Kearns operated on a 50-50 basis.

Prosperity didn't come to the two right away. They had plenty of tough pickings before Tex Rickard gave them their shot against Jess Willard at Toledo.

Kearns hooks diamonds. Coming east in the pre-championship days, they got as far as Chicago when the bottom dropped out of the exchequer. Kearns hooked his diamonds to get enough for hotel and board.

This was in the winter of 1917. Tommy Walsh, the Chicago manager who handled Joe Mandot, Pal Moore and Jack Malone, tells how Kearns got him to fix it up so Dempsey could work out at Howard Carr's gymnasium in the loop.

"Kearns was desperate," recalls Walsh. "He was telling everybody in our breath that Dempsey was the next heavyweight champion, and in the next he was offering to sell half interest in him for $2000. What a buy that would have been!"

Dempsey and Kearns got a break when a matchmaker from Racine, Wis., blew into town looking for a pushover to send against Homer Smith, who was then shaping up as a legitimate opponent for Willard.

Kearns offered him Dempsey for anything he wanted to pay, which was little enough, the matchmaker not having heard of either Dempsey or Kearns. The two had to pay their own carfare to get to Racine where the fight was held, but the trip was worth while. Dempsey won in a round.

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF AWARD
Pursuant to statute and to the Resolution of the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, directing this notice:

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana in open session at a regular adjourned session held on the 7th day of September, 1926, publicly opened, examined and declared all sealed proposals or bids for doing the following work ordered in said City of Santa Ana:

In, on and along the roadway of North Bristol Street from the North line of Santa Ana, from the North line of West Fifth Street to the South line of West Washington Avenue, and from the North line of Washington Avenue to a line 25 feet North of the South line of West Seventeenth Street, and parallel thereto, and a portion of the roadway of West Eighth Street West of North Bristol Street.

The work and improvement is more particularly described as follows: That the portions of North Bristol Street and West Eighth Street described be graded, paved with a Portland Cement Concrete pavement and have constructed along the same cement curbs where no such curbs now exist and where replacements are ordered in the plans hereinafter referred to. That a sanitary sewer be constructed in said portions of Bristol Street and West Eighth Street, together with all necessary appurtenances thereto.

Thereafter, on the 7th day of September, 1926, the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana awarded the contract for said work to the lowest responsible bidder, to-wit: Griffith Co., at the price named in their proposal or bid on file as follows:

Item 1. The grading to a subgrade and the laying thereon of a Portland Cement Concrete Pavement having a thickness of six (6) inches on the bases and nine (9) inches in the center, complete with the furnishing of all necessary equipment, labor and material for the sum of Eighteen Cents ($0.18) per square foot.

Item 2. The grading to a subgrade and the laying thereon of a Portland Cement Concrete Pavement having a thickness of five (5) inches, complete with the furnishing of all necessary equipment, labor and material for the sum of Forty-four Cents ($0.44) per linear foot.

Item 3. The excavation for and the construction of concrete sewer manholes complete with the furnishing of all necessary equipment, labor and material for the sum of Sixty-six Dollars ($66.00) each.

Item 4. The trenching, furnishing and laying of four (4) inch diameter house connections sewer laterals complete with the furnishing of all necessary equipment, labor and material for the sum of Fifty Cents ($0.50) per lin. ft.

Item 5. The excavation for and the construction of concrete sewer manholes complete with the furnishing of all necessary equipment, labor and material for the sum of Sixty-six Dollars ($66.00) each.

Dated this 7th day of September, 1926.
Attest: (SEAL) E. L. VEGELY,
Clerk of the City of Santa Ana.

"For Better Citrus Returns"

An Overwhelming Vote

11,000 of us, citrus growers, have found this method of marketing the most satisfactory. We average better prices than the minority that sell through other channels. You too can utilize this organization with added profit to yourself.

THIRTY years ago, when the co-operative marketing principle was first introduced in the citrus industry of California, only one-fourth the growers adopted it immediately.

"Show me," said the majority, "Prove that you can average better net returns and we will join." And they did.

Within ten years, more than half the growers were taking added profits by shipping through the California Fruit Growers Exchange.

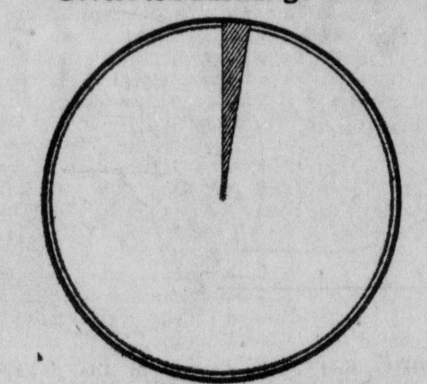

Today, three out of every four growers are convinced of the soundness of co-operative marketing—not simply "for the good of the industry," but for added profit to themselves.

11,000 of us—an overwhelming majority—back our conviction by marketing through the California Fruit Growers Exchange, which we control and operate on a non-profit basis.

We are the Exchange. By selling through one central agency we are able to market 75 per cent of the California crop in a systematic, orderly way. By joining together we are able to maintain an aggressive sales organization. By distributing expenses over our 20,000,000 boxes of fruit we are able to market at a lower cost than that of any other method. No unnecessary profit is taken from our returns. All the money, less only actual expenses, comes back to us.

That is why we know that over any period of years, we average

2.4% of Fruits' Delivered Value Covers All Exchange Costs

When the trade pays a dollar for Exchange fruit only 2.4 cents is deducted to cover all Exchange costs. This is less than the cost of selling citrus fruit through any other national distributing agency in spite of the fact that the Exchange provides a more complete and extensive sales machinery and carries on national advertising and other work for the promotion of the entire industry. When expenses have been paid the balance goes to the grower.

higher net returns than the minority who sell through other methods.

Sunkist

In practically every market every day Sunkist Oranges and Lemons bring a higher price than other citrus fruit of comparable size and grade. This is due mainly to the co-operative advertising and more efficient sales service rendered by the California Fruit Growers Exchange.

The following associations and shipping organizations in this district are members of the California Fruit Growers Exchange:

- Garden Grove—Garden Grove Citrus Assn.
- Orange—Central Lemon Assn.
- Orange—David Hewes Orange & Lemon Assn.
- Orange—McPherson Heights Citrus Assn.
- Orange—Olive Heights Citrus Assn.
- Orange—Red Fox Orchards Assn.
- Orange—Santiago Orange Growers Assn.
- Orange—The Villa Park Orchards Assn.
- Santa Ana—Frances Citrus Assn.
- Santa Ana—Irvine Citrus Assn.
- Tustin—Golden West Citrus Assn.
- Tustin—Tustin Hills Citrus Assn.

The Sales Offices of the Exchange

In every market designated above with a dot there is an Exchange sales office with a trained staff of California citrus salesmen building sales for Exchange growers and supplying up-to-the-minute market information to the Los Angeles office. This specialized sales organization promptly takes advantage of every marketing situation for the benefit of the growers which it exclusively represents.

Is it conceivable that 11,000 of us can be wrong? Could such an overwhelming majority deceive themselves year after year? When, out of a total crop of 26,000,000 boxes, 20,000,000 boxes are marketed through the California Fruit Growers Exchange, and when that proportion is steadily increasing, does not that fact constitute complete proof that it must be the most profitable and satisfactory method?

You, too, can average better returns by marketing through the Exchange as the majority do. And the shipment of more fruit through the Exchange means that a larger share of the crop can be marketed in an orderly way with increased profit to all.

Ask for Facts and Figures

We welcome a challenge to these statements and we are ready to bring forward facts and figures that will prove to any man, by his own records of any three or four-year period in his experiences, that Exchange returns in the same period were greater.

And then we want to tell you why this generally better net return holds good throughout the years.

How Are You Represented?

By working together, we are able to have our own sales representatives in the principal markets of America.

Through our 59 district sales offices, trained representatives, skilled in the sale of California citrus fruits in their territories, keep in constant touch with the fruit trade of the nation. Their offices are known as headquarters for citrus fruits.

You will find them in the office of the cross-roads jobber and in the fruit auction room of the metropolitan city. You will see them arranging window displays for retail fruit dealers, installing juice extractors in soda fountains and explaining new recipes to hotel chefs.

The Entire Country Covered

This selling organization covers the fruit trade of the nation like a blanket. Each man is trained for his special task, each has a definite territory in which to work, each is concerned with the one responsibility of getting maximum returns for Exchange growers.

And from these representatives there flows back daily and hourly, a steady stream of reports to the main office in Los Angeles. Here the facts are tabulated, studied and utilized as guides in each day's selling.

No other farmers' organization in the world has as complete and up-to-the-minute knowledge of its markets as the California Fruit Growers Exchange. No other is so well equipped to take instant advantage of every situation for the benefit of the producer. And yet the cost of selling through

Percentage of California Citrus Fruit Handled by the Exchange

Starting with less than one-fourth the California crop thirty years ago the grower membership of the Exchange has steadily grown until last year, when it handled more than three-fourths of the state's citrus crop.

the Exchange is less than the cost of selling through any other known method.

Co-operation's Great Results

Such facilities are made possible only by the co-operation of a majority of the growers. No other organization, with smaller volume, could attempt to maintain such a complete selling organization.

Ask your neighbors who belong to the Exchange how they value its services. Talk to the manager of the nearest Exchange association. Or write us and we will send you further information.

POE'S STORIES: Thou Art the Man

Sketches by Redner
Synopsis by Braucher

The investigator then told how he had solved the crime. He had overheard the conversation the night before the murder when Shuttleworthy had said he intended going to the city next day to deposit a large sum of money in the bank. He had searched the woods until he found the body of the murdered man.

He had doubled the corpse within the box, placing a whalebone spring in it, and sent it as a case of wine.

The investigator, a ventriloquist, had really spoken the words, "Thou Art the Man," which seemed to come from the corpse.

Shuttleworthy's nephew was then released from jail. He inherited the fortune that had been willed to him by Mr. Shuttleworthy. Profiting by the lessons of experience, he turned over a new leaf and led ever afterward a quiet and happy life. (Next: Hop-Frog.)

THE SEVERER CRITIC

Sometimes a word of praise I hear,
At other times the critics sneer,
And then again a flatterer speaks
And brings the crimson to my cheeks.
But though I pleased them all I'd be Still miles away from pleasing me.
I need no critic's tongue to tell
I have not done my work well,
Nor all the praise which flatterers
Weave into false pride can me deceive.
Though I were cheered by friend and foe,
I'd still have faults which I should know.
I know how far from what I dream
My finished labors always seem,

And back of affection's sham
I know myself just what I am,
I am in constant strife with me,
Trying for what I ought to be.
I know myself, far better than Could possibly another man,
I know what others never see,
I know the very worst of me.
My faults I am the first to spy
And none regrets them more than I.
With me I'm sterner far than those Who would be friends to me or foes.
'Twere fine to please them all, but though Such glory could be mine to know
I still should write this line of me:
I'm far from what I ought to be.

A Week-End Menu
When Guests Come, Have the Meals Planned in Advance—It Makes Visit Enjoyable For All

By SISTER MARY

Every housewife likes to entertain her friends as house guests occasionally, but in these more or less mad days the inexperienced housekeeper hesitates to invite week-end visitors.
There is no reason why the hostess should be hurried and flurried and generally uncomfortable over the necessary preparation of the meals. Careful planning of each meal, down to the last detail, is the first requisite toward a pleasant visit. Since every hostess wants as much leisure as possible with her guests, plan meals that require very little last-minute exertion.

Start Early
Begin your arrangements early and write down your plans in black and white.

Take an inventory of staple supplies and replenish early in the week.

Look over silver and linen. No matter how unpretentious the menu the "appointments" must be of your very best. This is one of the most delightful compliments any hostess can pay her guest.

A "match" of dairy, choice cookies is well to have in the house, and these can be made as early as Wednesday or Thursday and stored in a tight tin box. You can use them with iced tea or chocolate for afternoon tea or they lend themselves cheerfully for dessert with fresh fruit and cream.

A sandwich bread is another worthwhile preparation for any emergency. Tiny sandwiches of the bread and butter make an appetizing accompaniment for the dinner salad. Regular slices can be used for luncheon as an important part of the meal or sandwiches of the bread can be served with afternoon tea.

As most week-end visits begin sometime on Saturday I've planned these menus beginning Saturday morning and ending with Monday breakfast.

The Saturday luncheon is cold with the exception of the tea or coffee.

Be Prepared
SATURDAY LUNCHEON—Fruit cup, molded tuna fish salad, rye bread, tea, or coffee, radishes, salted nuts, chocolate ice-box cake.
The fruit cup and salad are made the first thing Saturday morning while the dessert was made Friday.

On Friday all the lettuce needed for the entire time should be carefully washed, put into a pan or kettle and kept in the ice-box or a cool cellar bottom if there is no room in refrigerator. This insures crisp, dry lettuce when needed.

Enough salad dressing should be made on Friday to carry through Saturday and Sunday. With lettuce and dressing at hand ready to use salad making is made very easy.

SATURDAY DINNER—Cream of mushroom soup, jellied veal loaf, potato chips, new beets in orange sauce, celery, olives, tomato and cream cheese salad, cantaloupe sherbet, iced coffee.

The veal loaf is made on Friday, the potatoes are fried Saturday morning and reheated in the oven or served cold and the sherbet is made and packed as late as possible Saturday morning unless you are blessed with an electric refrigerator or use one of the vacuum type freezers.

Get Up Early
Sunday meals must be planned in accordance with the manner in which the day is to be spent. If your guests like a long Sunday morning nap, a late, quite substantial breakfast with dinner at six o'clock in the evening is best. But if golf or church is on the program an early, lighter breakfast is wanted with dinner at two o'clock and supper about seven or a little later.

SUNDAY BREAKFAST—Chilled cantaloupe, cooked cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, toast, scrambled eggs, syrup, coffee.

SUNDAY DINNER—Iced watermelon, roast lamb, mint jelly, browned potatoes, buttered peas, stuffed cucumber salad, meringues filled with peach cream, salted nuts, mints, coffee.

SUNDAY SUPPER—Shrimp salad in green pepper cups, graham nut bread sandwiches, cream cake, iced tea.

MONDAY BREAKFAST—Orange juice, ready-to-serve cereal, thin cream, soft cooked eggs, cinnamon toast, coffee.

The wise housewife will rise at least an hour before her guests Sunday morning. This uninterrupted time spent in her kitchen will make the duties for the day much lighter.

The leg of lamb can be prepared for the oven, the peas shelled and put into cold water, and the watermelon cut in neat cubes, dipped into heavy syrup and put on ice to thoroughly chill.

Work to Minimum
The mint jelly was made Saturday morning while the meringues were made as early as Friday. The peach cream must be made Sunday morning and chilled ready to serve. Fill meringues when needed.

The actual last-minute preparation of these meals is reduced to the minimum. There is no fussing with elaborate desserts or sauces, but the menus are delicious and distinctive.

NEW COLORS
Some of the new colors favored are Capri Blue, Grotto Green, Jungle Green and Seaweed Red. Cornat Black is the Leong creation, with a hint of blue in it.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

No woman need worry about superfluous hair on the face. It can be cured and it can very easily be kept down so as to be almost unnoticeable. It's certainly ugly, and it will spoil the most lovely face if it throws its dark shadow over the upper lip, or protrudes in tufts from the chin. And yet you will see a dozen women every day as you go about the streets or the shops, who could be very attractive, but who have ruined their looks by allowing hair to grow on their faces.

If you have hairy moles, go to a doctor and have them removed. Don't try to do this yourself, no matter how highly recommended the treatment is. There is always danger of cancer—go to your doctor, it is a very easy matter for him to take them off, without leaving a scar, but you must not tamper with them yourself.

Pull out the coarse hairs on the upper lip and the chin with tweezers, and at once touch the spot where you have removed a hair with peroxide of hydrogen. This not only makes the skin antiseptic, it bleaches the light growth of fuzz which cannot be removed with the tweezers, and it causes the new hair down the follicle, which will eventually come to the surface to take the place of the one pulled out.

out, to come in bleached and weak—and eventually it will stop new hairs coming in.

A better form of the bleach is a large drop of ammonia to a tablespoonful of peroxide, made fresh each time and applied with a bit of cotton.

Shave under the arms with a safety razor.

A. L. C.—I would not suggest that you torture yourself by trying to reshape your nose through any of the means you suggest. There are very few noses in the world like those carved upon the cameos, and not many persons would find such noses becoming even if they did manage to have them changed.

Helen B.—Oily hair, pimples and blackheads, all indicate faulty digestion or poor elimination. Simplify your diet by omitting some sweets and other rich food, eat plenty of green salads and vegetables.

For the skin, take a full warm bath every day and cold showers followed by friction to stimulate the circulation. This will help to clear the skin and lead to an elimination of the blackheads from the pores. Pimples will disappear as there is less tax upon the system. Tomorrow—Nice Finger Nails

IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The dirtheim, moss-tinted, crumbling old tombstones of Trinity church-yard, which form the incongruous approach to modern Wall street, are perhaps the outstanding attraction of New York along with Brooklyn bridge, the Woolworth building and the Broadway lights.

Innumerable paragraphs have been written of the stenographers who gather at lunch time and spill their sandwich crumbs on the earth that holds the dust of Robert Fulton, Gen. Kearney and Alexander Hamilton.

The tombstones of these great ones have been scanned by numberless millions. There are a few of the drowsy slabs which bear little known names and these barely legible.

Among these you will find the name "Charlotte Temple," and therein lies one of the strange legends of the churchyard.

Some years ago a ghoul removed the plaque that once graced the gravestone and thus cast the shadow of uncertainty over dates and data.

Now back in the nineties a certain Mrs. Rowson wrote a novel entitled "Charlotte Temple: A True Tale." It told of a girl who eloped from England with an Englishman of rank, of how he deserted her after betrayal and, finally, of her death from heartbreak. It told of her burial at Trinity and the remorse of her betrayer who pleaded with the girl's father to kill him and when met by refusal came week upon week to sob on her grave.

Maybe true—maybe not! Nevertheless there is a grave in Trinity with the name Charlotte Temple graven on the stone.

Throughout the summer there was reported a steady increase of reports just east of Broadway where "real beer" was to be had with meals.

But the most ambitious effort to date is announced by a card which comes to my desk.

It announces a "$2.00 Beer Dinner."

Diners, it is announced, will be provided with a nice "growler" or bucket full of beer and, that the right crowd may be obtained, salesmen are going round selling meal tickets for the opening days.

The place, an old saloon, has been revamped and, I am told, $3000 spent for new fixtures.

So this is prohibition!

Speaking of bootleg! Liquor is not the only commodity illicitly peddled.

Recently a blue law was passed compelling New York barbers to close shop on Sunday.

Now a number of places operate with side door entrances and drawn blinds and signals, while itinerant shavers have a "route" of customers going from place to place in the good old fashioned way and charging from 50 cents up per shave.

FASHION HINTS

FLOWERED CHIFFON
A charming dance or dinner dress is of simple basque lines, with a black lace bodice and a skirt composed of richly colored flowered chiffon, set on a yoke of the same lace.

KINETIC LINE
The kinetic line with swirling and flared hems, holds its popularity far beyond expectation.

FEWER BEADS
The scintillating dress of beads is not in evidence for fall, though a few jeweled models are still being shown.

FLOWERS AND FEATHERS
French designers, in an attempt to help the industries hard hit by the recent Vogue for plain clothes, are trying to revive feather and flower trimming for hats and gowns.

BIRDS OF PARADISE
Very severe small hats with long black feathers drooping over the left shoulder to the waist or lower, are selling to the exclusive trade in New York at $75.

PEARL BUTTONS
A crepe satin dress in black is trimmed with ivory point lace, and pale pink globular pearl buttons.

ACCENT LINE
The new designs subordinate all kinds of trimming to the fundamental line of the garment. Trimming not essential to accent line or balance must be stripped off.

EGYPTIAN SILHOUETTE
There are still hints of the Egyptian silhouette in the gowns draped about the hips to a girle lifted in front.

SKIRT LENGTHS
The best designers insist that skirt lengths will not change before next summer.

NECK LINES
Square and V-shaped necklines are more popular than the boat neck. Collars are smaller and simpler in daytime frocks.

GAY NIGHTIES
The loveliest new nightgowns are of gayly printed muls or crepe de chine, with ribbons to match the flowers of the pattern.

VENETIAN GLASS
Venetian glass powder boxes, perfume bottles and trays are best for the smart dressing table.

HIGH CROWNS
High crowned hats and tam o' shanters are growing so popular that conservative houses are predicting their early decline. The early models have been copied in such cheap materials that the types are no longer distinctive.

Extravagance!
Or Is It Vision That Impels Women to Shopping?

By Olive Roberts Barton

The sermon, good friends, today is on extravagance.

Joubert says to "ponder only those evils from which we ourselves are exempt." Ponder, here, means to criticize. Also there is a deep, dark saying about people in glass houses! Who am I, you ask, to talk about extravagance when I am a woman?

That is why. And because I am a woman I know why I am extravagant and why other women are extravagant. Variety is life itself to a woman. The weekly or bi-weekly shopping trip is planned not altogether for diversion, but to actually purchase something for themselves or the house or the family that will lend variety. It may be anything from a new deck of cards to lawn seed, but whatever it is you may gamble that in the near future it is going to contribute a change of some sort to something in that woman's line of vision.

"I get tired of looking at so and so," is the most common remark in the world. You seldom hear a man say it.

There is another trouble. Women actually do have vision. One sees an attractive mat. Instantly there springs into her mind's eye a bare spot by the side door promptly covered by the mat. She buys the mat. She sees a yellow velvet dress—then she sees Betty in her old sun-faded green. (Be sure she always sees the worst in this mind eye of hers.) Instantly there is Betty as pretty as sunlight in the yellow. Five on the yellow! The yellow wins!

Once an older woman asked me what I was going into a certain store for. "To look around," said I. "I might see something I need."

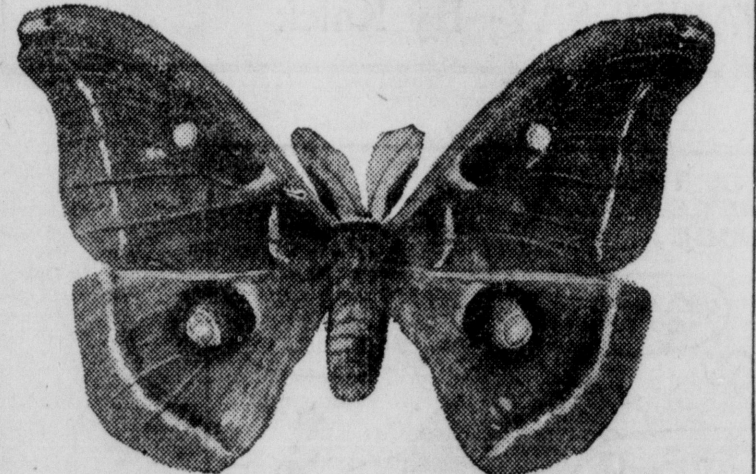

She slammed the car door shut. "No, you're not," she said. "You're going home." And then followed a lecture on aimless shopping and needless spending. The woman was rich and I listened. If any one builds up a fortune on this advice, she might send me a commission. "Plain before you go into a store—not after," said she, "and stick absolutely to it. If you can't afford anything, don't go. And never charge a cent's worth if the bill is going to jump on your pillow every night."

Queer Quirks of -NATURE-

CALLED AMERICAN SILK WORM

Polyphemus Moth

By AUSTIN H. CLARK
Smithsonian Institution.

Half a century ago it was believed that silk could be profitably produced from the cocoons of the polyphemus moth, which for that reason is sometimes called the American silk-worm moth. But the promise of the early successes has not been fulfilled.

On one estate in 1865 not less than a million of the huge caterpillars of this moth could be seen feeding in the open air on scrub oak bushes covered with nets; five acres of woodland were swarming with them. But this thriving colony was wiped out by a disease imported in the eggs of an allied moth through Paris from Japan.

The cocoons of the polyphemus are oval in shape and tough and dense, and closed at each end. Within there is a spacious cavity with finely polished sides in which the pupa lies. Usually the cocoons are spun between two leaves and in the autumn fall to the ground with them. They are frequently to be seen on the sidewalks in our towns, and sometimes even in our cities.

Sometimes the caterpillar runs a hand of silk up the stems of one or both of the leaves which are thus attached securely to the twig. You see these occasionally in the winter when the trees are bare.

The silk of the polyphemus is of good quality, with a very strong and glossy fiber.

ENROLLMENT INCREASE IN LA HABRA SEEN

LA HABRA, Sept. 9.—With all of the buildings clean and shining with the teachers all ready and anxious, with the children realizing the approaching day, but not so anxious; the La Habra grammar schools are ready for the opening day of school next Monday.

The enrollment is expected by the school board to be much larger than last year. There will be 12 teachers in the three schools for the term 1926-27. Nine of the teachers will be in the district, while 3 of the teachers have been members of the faculty for one or more years. The new members of the teaching force and their positions are: District superintendent, Emmett Berry; music teacher, Frank Barrows; principal, Mrs. E. Evans Perry; Mrs. C. M. Lamm, principal of the West Side school; Miss Christine Kane, sixth grade department and girls' physical education; Mrs. Chamberlain, fifth grade; Miss Irene Leoni, fourth grade; Miss Amy Vase, kindergarten; Miss Norma Plank, kindergarten.

For the present there will not be any change in the boundaries of the school district within the city limits, in so far as the attendance at the Washington and Lincoln schools are concerned. The boundary lines between the two schools for the second, third, fourth and fifth grades are as follows: Cypress street, south of Central avenue, west on Central to Aldrich, south on Aldrich to the Pacific Electric tracks, west on the P. E. tracks to Hiatt, and south on Hiatt. All pupils in the first grade or entering school for the first time, living west of Hiatt are to go to the Lincoln school, and those living on the east side of Hiatt are to attend the Washington school.

Superintendent Berry states that there will not be any regular study the first day, as the pupils will only be kept about one and one half hours, or until enrollment

Draws 500-Day Sentence On 3 Canyon Charges

ORANGE, Sept. 2.—Al Keefe, who was taken into custody in Silverado canyon several days ago by Deputy Sheriff George Bartley, charged with possession of liquor, was driving and intoxication, pleaded guilty before Judge of the Peace G. W. Ingle yesterday afternoon. Ingle imposed a fine of $500 or 500 days in jail. Unable to pay the fine, Keefe was ordered confined in the county jail.

Keefe has an unexpired sentence of 138 days to serve on another charge. He was on parole when arrested by Bartley, it is said.

'Y' Activities To Commence Soon

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—Fall activities at the local Y.M.C.A. are scheduled to get under way next week with the opening of school, according to C. E. Morrow, local Y.M.C.A. secretary. Morrow returned recently from the Y.M.C.A. camp on Catalina island. Preparations are under way for the handling of the youngsters expected to enroll in the various departments of the institution for the fall and winter programs.

COSTA MESA, Sept. 9.—A birthday surprise party in observance of Mrs. Vlele's seventeenth anniversary, was held at his home Friday evening. At 7:45 o'clock a group of boys burst into the house, grabbed a game in regular football style. Each boy managed to give the customary thanks. The evening was spent playing games and refreshments of ice cream, cakes, candy and peanuts were served.

 Those present were Robert and Albert Smith, Nell Willets, Merle Howell, William Warren, Guy Eckstein, William Erbe, Roy Wheeler and R. Vlele, the honoree.
 Mrs. B. A. Ewell assisted Mrs. Vlele with the serving.
 Monday night a church board meeting was held at the Costa Mesa Community church. September 20, the last quarterly board meeting will be called at the church at 7:30 p. m. This will be an open meeting.

OUR CALIFORNIA, FORWARD!

Seventy-six years ago this day, California's star was added to those already upon the flag.

In the four years previous to September 9, 1850, California had passed from the possession of Mexico, into the hands of the United States. Mexico, at best a country of little progress and stability, exerted but a remote control over the great, uncouth land that stretched along the Pacific. From conditions that were unsettled and a future that was uncertain, California, becoming territory of the United States, entered upon the fulfillment of its destiny. There came, soon afterward, the discovery of gold, an increase in population, the turning of efforts from mining to agriculture, the building of commerce, the development of a great state.

Seventy-six years—why, that but reaches half the way back to the signing of the Declaration of Independence!

It's but a span. There are men and women living in our own country who can remember when California was admitted as a state. They have witnessed vast changes. They, some of them, have had an integral part in building California thus far along its glorious way.

Those of us who have not seen so many years go by may live, as they have lived, to see vast changes. California moves quickly. The eyes of the world are turned our way. Ten, twenty, thirty years? What will they bring to us? Those who are declaring that they can see tremendous development in manufacturing, those who can see a shifting of world's activities to the Pacific coast, those who believe that millions of men and women now living in windswept, heat-ridden, frozen lands of the east are coming to California as America's greatest land of opportunity, of work, of joy, of achievement and of rest—they are picturing for us a wonderful new California.

We will move forward into these teeming years. From the history and traditions of the old California that we love, as no other state is loved, we gather and hold fast the things that are best and true. The devotion and rugged honesty that came with pioneer-ship are ours today. Without them as an integral part of our life, California would not be California.

These we weld into the California of tomorrow. Here we have the greatest opportunity in the country today for the development of the highest and best in American citizenship. We are in the building. The years just ahead of us are to be active years of development and achievement. We shall draw, as we have drawn, the best that America has to offer in manhood and womanhood. Ours is an opportunity of a century!

INFORMATION FOR GROWERS

The California Fruit Growers Exchange, the co-operative marketing organization through which more than 11,000 growers market their Sunkist oranges, lemons and grapefruit, has just released an educational advertising campaign to run throughout the entire year in the citrus belt newspapers. The first announcement appears in this issue of The Register and we commend it as well worth attention. Other dailies and weeklies covering the entire citrus belt from Butte county on the north to San Diego county on the south carry the same message.

Citrus growers will find much of interest in these exchange advertisements. Information regarding exchange service and marketing methods, as well as the basic principles for the most efficient marketing of California citrus will be featured. Like the co-operative marketing groups in wheat, potatoes, cotton, and other agricultural commodities, the California Fruit Growers Exchange recognizes that in efficient marketing and systematic distribution lie, to a great extent, the success or failure of the California citrus industry.

This campaign will give growers accurate information about their industry and the marketing of their fruit.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange, which stands as a leader in the co-operative movement and among national food products advertisers, is a co-operative business enterprise participated in by three out of every four citrus growers of the state. Statements from this organization are worthy of study and its opinions worth careful consideration.

ROAD SIGN VANDALS

Complaint is made of vandalism in many places which takes the curious form of destroying or altering road signs. It appears alike in the familiar twisting of street signs in cities and in the less familiar bending or complete removal of highway signs in the country, on important routes.

The result is that strangers, especially tourists, are often sent miles out of their way by a sign pointing in the wrong direction, or are left without adequate information regarding curves and other features of the road ahead.

This is a queer form of practical joke. If the funny young fellows perpetrating it were given stiff fines or jail sentences whenever they were caught, it would help to straighten out their perverted sense of humor.

If there is any inanimate thing on earth that should tell the truth, it is a road sign. Tampering with it may often be comparable to throwing a switch to derail a passenger train.

THE ORANGE COUNTY WAY

Orange county might be described as a very prosperous and productive body of land almost entirely surrounded by graft and grafters.

There are charges and counter-charges of graft and grafting, in almost every line of the public service, in Los Angeles county to the north, and to the south a grand jury investigation has just been opened which, it is alleged, will reveal graft and grafting conditions in San Diego county of amazing proportions.

Meantime, good old Orange county goes on the even tenor of her way, undismayed and unafraid. In the affairs of the county, as in the affairs of her cities, a dollar's worth of value is insisted upon, and is received, for every dollar expended.

When we build a $200,000.00 court house that's just what we get—a $200,000.00 court house.

When we elect a man to public office he is expected, and, in fact, sworn, faithfully and honestly to discharge the duties of that office, and he does just that.

And so it has ever been and so let us hope and believe it will ever be in good old Orange county—the good old Orange county way.

The Orange county way of conducting public affairs may not afford so much and so many sensations as those in vogue elsewhere, but it has its advantages. Yes, it has its advantages.

Two-Thirds Rule

San Bernardino Sun
It seems to be impossible for the people of the United States to decide any matter on fundamental principles, but always there must be the complication of individual interests and temporary expediences. This fact is just now being exemplified in the matter of proposed abandonment of the two-thirds rule and the rule for voting of state delegations as a whole in conventions. Neither of these customs of Democratic national conventions is democratic in spirit. They both muzzle the voice of the people. Originally adopted to further temporary political ends, the contests over their retention seems to turn on the same pivot.

The fight between Governor Smith as the candidate for the extreme wets, and McAdoo, who is moderately dry, is splitting the party wide open. As it seems now, either might be nominated if only a majority were necessary. In past conventions such fights have been settled by wiping off both candidates because of their inability to command two-thirds of the delegates, and then compromising on some other less popular man in order to save the delegates from running up more hotel bills. Those who want to put an end to this fight are inclined to oppose the return to majority nomination, not as a matter of democratic principle, but as one of immediate policy. It is opportunism, and that is a spirit of action which seldom produces good results. Usually the opportunist fails of permanent results.

The political drift in the United States for many years has been away from the representative principle and toward the purely democratic. The effort has been to bring government nearer to the people, even though it is doubtful we have secured better government. That is why within recent years the country has adopted the popular primaries, popular election of Senators, nomination by petition, the initiative, the referendum and recall. Almost the only undemocratic thing that still remains in this two-thirds rule and the solid delegation rule in the nominating conventions of the one party which bears a name suggestive of complete democracy in its spirit and methods. We even go so far in some states as to vote instructions to elected delegates, so that in convention they will be sure to represent the will of their constituents. But we are a young nation, still in the making.

This May Help Stop It

San Francisco Chronicle
It is significant that Warden Lawes of Sing Sing prison is urging the people of New York to tighten up the administration of justice and stop helping criminals out of prison by the back door of misguided sympathy.

For Warden Lawes is distinguished by his humanitarian views concerning prisoners. He has done herculean labor in improving conditions in Sing Sing. He is strongly opposed to capital punishment and no authority is more widely quoted by those who work for the abolition of noose and death chair. And it is a fact that he approaches an execution with the utmost horror and is ill for days after he has officiated at one.

But Lawes is a practical man. He does not confuse human instincts with sentimental gush. And perhaps his very horror of capital punishment is a reason for championing swift and strict justice.

Warden Lawes has learned from experience that the men who reach the death chair almost invariably have criminal records. They have "beaten the game" at Sing Sing or some other prison and have come out with a fine contempt for justice as administered. And so in time they come back for Lawes to perform what to him is a most disagreeable duty. If his program for eliminating unequal punishment and for closing the loopholes by which criminals escape just penalties can be carried into effect, there may be fewer executions in America because there will be less contempt for law.

Health Topics

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor of Journal of American Medical Association

HOME PATIENT NEEDS IDEAL SICK ROOM
The housewife ordinarily has sufficient to occupy her during the day. When to her usual duties are added the problems associated with the care of a none too pleasant invalid, she is likely to need and to appreciate kindly advice.

The first problem that will concern her is the room in which the sick one is to be placed. Ordinarily the invalid is promptly deposited in the bedroom of his usual occupancy. This may not necessarily be best suited to his condition.

For many reasons, he should be in very close relationship to the bathroom facilities and not too far removed from contact with the daily life of the household. Of course, if he has a nurse who is to do the carrying back and forth of icepicks, toilet articles, food, soiled dishes and linens, the matter of steps is of lesser importance.

If, however, the mother is to attend to these factors in addition to her regular household problems, she will want to minimize the number of steps as much as possible, in order that there may not be another invalid to occupy the place of the sick one as soon as he is well.

The irritability of the sick one is greatly increased by rattling windows and noisy opening and closing of doors.

The rattling may be controlled by the use of suitable wedges of either wood or paper that may occupy the space in which the window sash moves. A door may be made noiseless by binding a cloth of any kind from one door knob to the other.

This serves the double purpose of softening any slamming of the door and also prevents a tight closure. A call of the invalid can be heard through the opening that will be maintained by this method, and at the same time enough sound will be cut out to make a considerable difference.

An invalid needs sunlight as much or more than a person in normal health. Sunlight has valuable disinfectant properties and from the psychological point of view induces cheerfulness. A distinct glare is, however, always harmful to a patient whose eyes are likely to be made more sensitive by his disease.

In some diseases in which the eyes are especially susceptible to light, the patient may wear dark colored glasses.

Stealing Our Stuff

Reading With a Purpose

Philadelphia Ledger

Libraries are a great deal more important than mere storage places for books. Their functions are not even completely performed when they supply reading matter to those who apply for it. They should be and are great educational centers, charged with the responsibility of guiding the people into the right paths of literature and knowledge. It is not enough for the librarian to know where to find on the instant the treasures in his care and to pass these over the counter to the applicant. He must know something, at least, about what is in the books, and he must be prepared to give sound information and advice to the seeker after guidance.

Modern library management is fully awake to its duty in this respect, and there are many ways in which it is striving to fulfill its obligation. The American Library association, for example, has adopted a practical method of teaching the public how to "read with a purpose." It has ready a score or more of useful handbooks on various branches of science, philosophy and literature, written by carefully-chosen experts, in which the effort is made not merely to carry a list of books worth reading, but to outline what the student needs to know on the several topics and what remains to be known. This is a practical contribution to the spread of sound learning, and reflects credit upon its promoters and upon all who are co-operating to make the plan a success.

Worth While Verse

BEE BALM

I know where, in a sequestered valley,
The bright bee balm blows;
August noontides lean continually
Over it the while it glints and glows;
Little coppice winds about it dally
As it bourgeoises, redder than rose.

Furtive are its ways, hidden, secluded,
Ways of secrecy;
You and I by it may be deluded,
And yet not the honey seeking bee;
He is wise like one who long has brooded
Over treasure for his treasury.

He is patient as he is persistent,
Questing down the wind;
If like him we are intent, insistent,
And not stumbling, impotent and blind,
We, at last, although the day be distant,
Like the bee our own reward may find.

Glenn Martin, Santa Ana aviator, was officially appointed to act as American defender of the James Gordon Bennett cup in international races to be held at Chicago.

The Grand Opera house was packed to capacity last night when the Y. M. C. A. had charge of the city's final Sunday evening union church services. Speakers declared one of Santa Ana's greatest needs to be a Y. M. C. A. building.

More than a score of women, virtually all socially prominent, attended a meeting of the city council to protest against the granting of license for a pool room and bowling alley in which women would be allowed to play, at 416 North Main street. The council postponed further action until its next meeting when Harry Jones, proprietor of the establishment, will be allowed a hearing.

Mrs. Lucy Blanchard, state president of the W. C. T. U., will speak at tomorrow's picnic for Orange county mothers at Birch park.

Statements of candidates' expenses, filed with the county clerk, disclosed that H. E. Smith, successful supervisorial candidate, expended $199 and H. V. Weisel, republican nominee for the assembly, paid $70 during the recent primary campaign.

Orange growers of the Villa Park section announced that a meeting will be held here September 14 for the purpose of organizing an association.

SAND HOUSES

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

Oh, let's pretend we're loafing 'round most any sandy beach, where fun for all the little folk is much within their reach. Like little ants they work away, with scoop and such in hand, abuilding little tunnels and sandhouses in the sand.

A youngster takes no set-backs, when he's at that sort of play. He plans to build a certain thing and works at it all day. A wave may wash and tear things down. The child may sigh—but then, he simply makes the best of it, and builds it up again.

We grown-ups sit and watch a while. Perhaps we lend a hand, but why the youngster seems so thrilled, we seldom understand. He works to beat the dickens, yet it's work that he calls fun. 'Tis just a rugged sand-house, still he's proud when it is done.

The answer? Well, a youngster's mind is starting on its way. It's teaching him that real hard work can mix right in with play. By sticking to the sand-house task, there's one fine thought it brings: Don't let the little upsets put the halt on doing things.

Maintaining Life in Absence of Fresh Air

Sacramento Bee

Recently, according to what seems to be well established testimony, Harry Houdini, the famous adept in "stage magic," had himself sealed in a coffin and submerged in the water of a swimming pool of a New York hotel.

By prior arrangement he remained thus under water for an hour and a half. And when the coffin was raised and opened he emerged smiling and seemingly in good condition, saying his only unpleasant experience was a slight dizziness, due to breathing the confined and vitiated air, filled with carbon dioxide from his lungs.

Houdini is not a mere trickster, but a man of super intelligence. He said his object was not to "fool" anybody, but to demonstrate that life may be maintained for a considerable time in the absence of fresh air, as in the case of miners and other persons sometimes confined in a small space through accident.

Under such circumstances, he declared, if one knows or believes he is safe, and so does not allow himself to get excited or to breathe deeply, also avoids needless movements, he may survive with very little oxygen remaining in the confined air, as in his own test case.

That demonstration was made in the presence of Dr. McCornell, a physiologist of the United States Department of Mines, who reported that Houdini's "physical reactions from the test were not marked."

In other words, little impairment of condition could be discovered by the usual means of medical examination. It further appears that while submerged the wonder-worker kept in communication with those present by means of a telephone. So he could not have drugged himself into insensibility for the length of time he was enclosed in the casket, and thus have reduced respiration to a merely nominal volume.

That Houdini demonstration may be regarded as of practical as well as scientific importance.

Expired air from the lungs contains carbon dioxide, which is not poisonous. It is radically different from the deadly carbon monoxide from the exhaust of a gasoline engine, a very minute quantity of which gas may cause death.

But it is important to remember that oxygen in the air—normally about 20 per cent, with 80 per cent of nitrogen—is useful to support life under ordinary circumstances, especially where there is physical exertion of any sort. And an abundance of pure, fresh air is useful to the preservation of health and strength, during sleep and at all other times.

It would be a serious mistake to assume that Houdini's demonstration in any way detracts in the least from the truth of the teaching as to the value and need of sufficient ventilation of homes, factories, mines, theaters and other places of public resort.

Instinct Not Inherent

Geo. A. Dorsey in American Magazine

Born densely ignorant, naked and unashamed, and without ethics, morals, or manners, you could learn to behave like a skunk or an angel, like a dumb-bell or a genius. Your higher brain center was the only part of you that came clean, untired and untutored. With it came a body that was soon rearing to go, limbs to move you across the earth, eyes to pierce the stars—in short, insatiable curiosity to explore, to learn. Your young brain was free of habits, the nine billion neurons had as yet no experiences; they were ready for experience, open to suggestion a vast virgin soil awaiting the planting of habits.

And habits are not instincts. You may think the banker has an instinct for money-making and the mathematician an instinct for figures; and that love of parents is "instinctive." As a matter of fact, the banker has no more "instinct" for money-making than has a chimpanzee, nor has the mathematician any more instinct for figures than a Hottentot. Parental love and filial love are not more "instinctive" than is love for cubs instinctive in the tiger; otherwise, parents could never hate their children, nor children their parents, nor tiger mothers eat their cubs when sorely pressed. Bankers, mathematicians and mothers get certain habits which function like instincts.

Instinctive behavior is blown-in-the-bottle, dyed-in-the-wool behavior; it can't change. You haven't even an "instinct" of self-preservation. If you had you would not be so ready to die for your country or for the woman you love. Why should you have "instincts" when you can form habits which are better than instincts, because they can be changed, improved, or thrown away?

Habits are priceless possessions. Because you could form habits you could become clever, efficient, modest, decent, sociable, humane, intelligent, learned, brave, courteous, or the reverse.

At birth you were provided not with innate instincts but with mechanisms innately ready to function under appropriate stimuli. The empty-stomach stimulus, for example, was transmitted to your highest central, but that central was as yet inexperienced, it had learned nothing. It knew no words to express hunger; it knew no way to get you out of your crib and into the pantry. All it could do was to drive your ignorant body to make restless movements and untutored cries. And that was enough for the time being.

THE united efforts of your boosters in boosting and encouraging better business. JOIN THEM!

YOUR CITY HAS A WONDERFUL FUTURE. THERE IS SO MUCH THERE TO COMMEND AND SO LITTLE TO CRITICISE.

By Edson R. Walte, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

Did You Ever Stop to Think

THAT the advancement of your city is first in the minds of your boosters. JOIN THEM!

THAT they are ready to lead your city forward in a great movement of development, progress and prosperity. JOIN THEM!

THAT they believe in co-operation and practice what they preach. JOIN THEM!

THAT by indulging in normal business transactions they bring normal business conditions. JOIN THEM!

THAT they are always filled with a spirit of "live and let live." JOIN THEM!

THAT they are REAL BOOSTERS. Boosters are always builders. JOIN THEM!

THAT no hand can stop the march of development as long as your boosters are boosting. JOIN THEM!

THAT your booster realize that your city is on the tide and will ride rapidly forward on the top-most wave. JOIN THEM!

THAT the people who have faith in your city are boosters. HAVE FAITH and show it by JOINING THEM!

THAT there will be an advance in progress of your city even before the expectation of the far-sighted boosters. You can make it advance faster by JOINING THEM!

THAT it will grow because of
